California Fires Roar Unabated

A fireman watches flames on the grass in front of his burning home as he watches the arrival of flames during one of the several brush fires which raged out of control in the Los Angeles area over the weekend. The house, in the Porter ranch section, was almost totally destroyed. Several hundred homes were destroyed by the blaze. (AP Wirephoto)

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Huge fires spread on brush-covered slopes outside San Diego and Los Angeles today after destroying hundreds of homes and forcing thousands to evacuate.

Three persons were killed.

One plane destroyed 150,000 acres in southern San Diego County, advancing to the outskirts of several San Diego suburbs. A spokesman for the State Division of Forestry said this fire covered a greater area than any single fire in the state's history.

150,000 Acres Burned

Another blaze blackened 115,000 acres around the Los Angeles basin.

Fire fighters managed to check the western progress of the San Diego area fire Sunday night as winds, wildly erratic during the day, subsided. But the fire moved southward toward the Mexican border.

More than 20,000 residents fled the San Diego area fire and thousands of others were evacuated from canyon homes as flames raced along a 26-mile front northwest of Los Angeles.

Arsons Suspected

Other fires, some believed set by arsonists, burned in various parts of Southern California for the fourth straight day.

Western fire fighters battled flames from the air and the ground. They faced another day of temperatures above 100 degrees and winds stronger than 50 miles per hour.

San Diego, Los Angeles and Ventura counties were declared disaster areas by Gov. Ronald Reagan, who urged Californians to donate clothing and toys for families left homeless.

Red Cross Damage Costs

Federal and state teams were ordered in to assess damage and pave the way for federal relief funds.

Evacuation centers were set up in the fire-ravaged areas. Many of the evacuees were taken into the homes of friends and strangers.

200 Homes Burn

The San Diego area fire had burned about 200 homes in Pine Valley, Alpine, Jamul, Maricopa Canyon, Crest, El Cajon and other communities along a path 20 miles long and 10 miles wide.

The fire began Saturday in Cleveland National Forest 20 miles east of San Diego from sparks spewing from a fallen power line. It roared westward through brush-covered mountains and lush valleys to the outskirts of El Cajon and Spring Valley near San Diego.

South of San Diego, flames approached National City and Chula Vista.

Use Diplomacy In Cuban Sub Base Rift: Demo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, says diplomacy, not bluff, is needed in dealing with a possible Soviet submarine base in Cuba.

The relative strength of the United States and Russia has changed since the Cuban missile crisis under President John F. Kennedy, Fulbright said. "It was possible at that time to bluff them. I think I doubt that it is possible now because the best information we have is there is a degree of parity. It is a dangerous situation."

Fulbright spoke Sunday on the ABC radio-television program "Issues and Answers."

"This calls for diplomacy and not bluff, and certainly not the resort to arms because this is a disaster," he said.

The best way to handle the report of a new base, disclosed Friday by the Postmag, is to take the matter to the SALT-2 strategic arms limitation talks in Vienna, the Arkansas Democrat said.

Fulbright views the possible construction at Cienfuegos Bay on the Cuban south coast not as a test of President Nixon. "They know we have the capacity for destruction," he said. "U.S. officials said Saturday it would be some time before they knew how the Soviets would use the new naval facilities. Although intelligence had spotted equipment moving into the harbor recently, officials said it was not clear what would be installed."

Missouri GOP Hopeful Dies Of Gun Wound

BREITWOOD, Mo. (AP) — John W. Peters, Republican candidate for Congress from Missouri's 2nd District, was found shot to death in the basement of his campaign headquarters Sunday night. Robert C. Ryan, deputy county medical examiner, said Peters, 49, apparently shot himself.

Peters, district sales engineer for the Borg-Warner Corp., more than doubled the vote total of his nearest rival in the August primary.

Police said a 16-gauge shotgun was found beside his body. No note was found.

Peters was to have faced the Democratic incumbent, Rep. James W. Symington of Clayton, in the November general election.

2 U. P. Areas Hit By Light Snowfall

MARGUERITE (AP) — Residents in Marguerite and Houghton were up today to a paper-thin blanket of snow. The weather bureau said scattered snow will fall for three hours early today. It said, however, that only a few flakes will fall today. It said the first taste of snow the last week in September. Both cities had early morning lows of 24.

Guaranteed Income For Nation's Poor Nears Crucial Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's plan for a guaranteed annual income for the nation's poor is passing a crucial Senate test with the administration unable to count on the strong Republican support necessary for passage.

The Senate Finance Committee starts executive hearings Tuesday into Nixon's welfare reform program, including the guaranteed income plan, and a related Social Security measure. Both have passed the House.

Nine Votes Needed

The administration needs at least nine votes among the 50 Democrats and seven Republicans on the committee to clear the legislation for Senate debate.

However, a key Democratic source, who asked not to be named, said there are not enough votes among committee members of his party to get the bill to the floor. "The President is going to have to get some more help from the Republicans," he said.

Symington Confident

But, administration strategists admit they are confident only of the vote of Sen. Wallace F. Symington, R-Utah, but hope to pick up more support in the closed committee sessions.

The guaranteed income provision that is sparking the GOP resistance — a daylight opposition in some cases — is formally known as the Family Assistance Plan, or FAP.

It would, for example, provide a basic, federally financed income floor of $1,000 to every four-member family in the nation, increasing the welfare rolls to a potential 34 million persons, compared with 19 million now.

Several Republicans on the committee say the projected cost of $4.1 billion a year for the plan is too low.

The Social Security measure, which the committee will start with Tuesday, is considered a sure bet to clear the panel and may be the vehicle for floor debate on guaranteed income.

Some GOP foes, led by Sen. John J. Williams, D-Ill., are considering trying to limit it to a small pilot study which may be tackled once the Social Security bill is passed.

Amendment Possible

But several senators have said if the welfare bill is bottled up in committee, they will offer FAP as an amendment to the Social Security measure.

That bill provides a 5 per cent boost in all Social Security benefits next January, before automatic increases in payments when the cost of living rises 3 per cent and slight cost-of-living adjustments and medical costs.

Nixon Discusses U.S. Plans With Italian Officials

U. S. Leader Visits With Arab Hostages

ROME (AP) — President Nixon discussed war and peace in the Mediterranean with Italian leaders today and made an unscheduled trip to Rome's airport to greet freed American skyjack hostages flying home from Jordan.

Nixon flew to Fiumicino Airport by helicopter and met the Americans on the tarmac as they walked off a special Trans World Airlines plane that is taking them back to the United States.

Such was the crush around the smiling President that authorities herded the 26 hijack victims back into the plane. Nixon followed and addressed them inside.

Meet Hijack Victims

The Americans had arrived an hour earlier from Nicosia where they had spent the night after being freed by Palestinian guerrillas in Amman. They were to continue on to New York after refueling, but the surprise decision by Nixon to greet them held them in Rome a little longer than scheduled.

Nixon said afterward: "I think I feel as happy as they do."

He told reporters that what the hostages went through may mean "the possibility of this happening again in the future has been substantially reduced."

Refers To Armed Guard

He referred to measures that include armed guards aboard aircraft and security at airports.

"It sometimes takes an incident like this to bring world attention," Nixon said, adding that the reaction was one of "outrage" and one of compassion for the victims.

Before visiting the hostages, the President told Italian leaders the United States is committed to a strong presence in the Mediterranean, which he called the "southern anchor of NATO."

He made the reaffirmation to President Giuseppe Saragat at the beginning of talks seeking means of a lasting peace in the Mediterranean.

He later talked with Premier Emilio Colombo, who accompanied Nixon on the trip to meet the hostages.

Never Lost Spirit

Nixon said the hostages were "very proud of being Americans. They never lost their spirit." Their slogans were "thumbs up" and "they had no complaints about what happened," he added.

The President spoke to reporters briefly on the ramp of the plane that was to take the hostages nonstop home to New York.

Nixon spoke of what he said was a dilemma faced by his administration and other officials trying to gain release of the hostages. He said that while helping to obtain their release, it was not possible to move in "with massive force" for fear of hurting them.

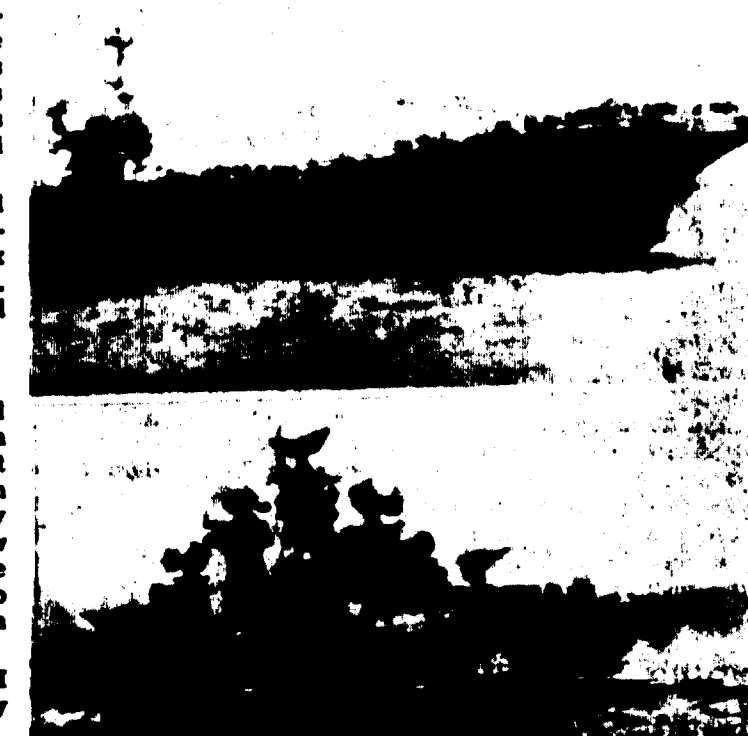

"While we showed great power, we also showed great restraint," Nixon added. He called this a "landmark case" that would influence American foreign policy in the future.

His meeting with Saragat began only hours after cars belonging to U.S. military men at two Italian bases were set afire, a reminder of the scattered violence that accompanied Nixon's second visit to this NATO nation in 18 months.

Reporting on the Nixon-Saragat talks, U.S. presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon "reaffirmed to

Campus Violence Report Greeted With Cynicism

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential task force's multi-edged fault finding for campus violence has been greeted with much of the indifference and cynicism the panel indicated is reflected in student unrest.

The weekend report by the President's Commission on Campus Unrest laid a pall of blame across much of society — the student terrorist, the authority who shoots needlessly, the teacher who tolerates disruption, the college administrator who forfeits discipline.

Government Blamed

And the federal government, not only for what it does or doesn't do, but what it says.

The report was submitted after a three month study.

The commission, headed by former Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton, a Republican, called on all of society to unite against the pressures that set off the mobs, bombings and even killings at universities and colleges over the past year.

But it was to President Nixon that the panel, and Scranton in particular, looked for a solution. "Only the President has the platform and prestige to urge all Americans, at once, to step back from the battlelines into which they are forming," the report said.

Moral Leadership Eyed

Whether the President can or will take the moral leadership, the nine-member task force called for brought divided thoughts in a check of campuses and officials.

"Nixon appointed this commission to pacify the public, not to listen to it," was the reaction from a University of California student, John Emshwiller, a 20-year-old self-described moderate.

A slightly more positive reaction, but one still tinged with skepticism, came from William O'Neill, professor of American history at the University of Wisconsin where one person was killed in an explosion.

"The commission soundly recommended steps to isolate the small, hardcore of totally dissatisfied radicals from the infinitely larger number of sympathetic," O'Neill said. "But presidents appoint commissions to satisfy critics, not to provide action programs."

Positive Reaction Noted

There was, of course, much positive reaction. From Dan Evanson, a University of Georgia student.

U.S. Hostages Heading Home

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Twenty-eight Americans left Cyprus today on the last leg of their homeward-bound journey after being held by Palestinian commandos for three weeks.

Four of the 28 Americans who arrived in Nicosia Sunday aboard a Red Cross airlift from Amman, Jordan, remained in the Cypriot capital. There was no immediate explanation why they stayed.

The 26 left aboard a Trans World Airlines jetliner for New York with a brief stopover in Rome.

Six other hostages remained in Amman, but diplomatic sources in Beirut, Lebanon, said Sunday that they also had been freed and were turned over to the Egyptian Embassy, which has been acting as a go-between for the International Red Cross.

An Egyptian Embassy spokesman in Amman said that the six were being freed unconditionally, but added he hoped the Western nations involved would free the commandos they held.

The guerrillas demanded as ransom for the hostages the release of Arab commandos held in Britain, West Germany, Switzerland and Israel.

Although Britain, West Germany and Switzerland have indicated they will free Arab commandos held in their jails, diplomats said Sunday they will not go free until the release of all airline hijack hostages in Jordan is confirmed.

Reliable sources in Jerusalem said Israel was planning to free 13 Arab captives, apparently as part of a deal for the release of the hostages.

Phase-Out Set

IONIA (AP) — Operation's at Ionia's largest industrial concern—the A. O. Smith Inland plant—will be phased out by next July.

The city's largest employer, the plant makes automotive parts. Some 150 of its 500 employees have been laid off because of the General Motors strike. President and Director E. J. O'Connell said the company will assist employees in finding new jobs.

Labadie Case Discussed

Cubans Appear Prepared For Hijack Negotiations

MIAMI (AP) — Cuba says it is willing to enter an agreement with the United States to return airplane hijackers, but only if such a pact also covers the hijacking of boats.

This could involve Cubans who deal boats to come to Florida, and the State Department declined immediate comment while it studied the statement by Foreign Minister Raul Roa. In the past, such Cubans have been granted haven in the United States.

Statement Broadcast

Roa's statement was broadcast by Havana Radio Saturday night in an unusual public communication.

"The problem of the hijack of planes could not be solved by simple publicity measures," Roa's statement said.

"If the United States government wishes to discuss this problem in a serious and definitive way, the Cuban government is willing to subscribe immediately an agreement on the basis established in the Cuban law No. 1,258 Sept. 14, 1959, which includes besides the hijack of planes, the hijacking of ships and other violations of regulations and laws ruling the international traffic," Roa said.

International Plan Out

He added, "We do also envisage in a final and categorical way that we will not accept and will not respect any international agreement relating to the hijack of planes, unless it completely includes all piracy forms and violations without any exception."

Roa also declared that Robert Labadie, 27, a U.S. Army private put aboard a U.S. plane at a Cuban airfield and returned to this country last Thursday as an accused airplane hijacker, should be treated as a mental case rather than a criminal.

Labadie has been charged with hijacking a Trans World Airlines jetliner with 26 passengers aboard to Cuba Aug. 24. The hijacking occurred as the plane flew over Fort Wayne, Ind.

Note Received

Roa said Labadie was turned over to the United States as the result of a note to Cuba through the neutral Swiss Embassy.

The note requested Labadie's return, Roa said, and expressed American willingness "to exclude citizen Labadie taking in consideration that he was under psychiatric treatment at Valley Forge (Pa.) Hospital."

U.S. officials flew to Cuba Thursday and brought Labadie to Miami where he was held under $500,000 bail on an air piracy indictment which carries a maximum sentence of death. He was flown Friday to Fort Wayne, Ind., for further court action.

Remonstrance Act

"We hope that the U.S. government does not put on trial the North American citizen Robert Labadie since he is a case of mental derangement confirmed in the United States as well as in Cuba," Roa said.

"The Cuban government acceded to his returning for humanitarian reasons. The United States authorities have had hidden from public opinion such circumstances. To apply the penal law to this mental patient would be a disgrace and illegal act,"

New Guerrilla Attacks Feared By Lebanon

By The Associated Press

Lebanon guarded against renewed guerrilla attacks against Israel today after King Hussein of Jordan, Palestinian commander Yasser Arafat and eight Arab nations signed an agreement in Cairo ending the Jordanian civil war.

Observers at Tiberias, Israel, reported that Lebanese troops were out in force along their border Sunday, apparently anticipating increased guerrilla activity.

The peace agreement, signed Sunday by Hussein and Arafat, set up a three-man committee to ensure that its provisions are carried out and to report any violations to the eight cosigning states.

Foremost among the agreement's 14 points is that Hussein's army and the Palestinian forces will withdraw from Amman, almost destroyed by 10 days of fighting. The soldiers were to return to their normal barracks and the guerrillas to positions "best suited to their activities" in the "liberation battle against Israel"—presumably the Israel-Jordan cease-fire line along the Jordan River.

The pact prohibits "all propaganda campaigns" inconsistent with its objectives and orders the return of prisoners taken during the fighting. It directs that Irbid, in northern Jordan, and other guerrilla strongholds north of Amman be returned to the "military and civilian situation existing prior to recent events"—in effect, any northern portion captured by the army would be returned to guerrilla control.

Its final article expresses support for the Palestinian revolution "until it achieves its objective of full liberation and defeat of the usurping Israeli enemy."

Guaranteed Income For Nation's Poor Nears Crucial Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's plan for a guaranteed annual income for the nation's poor is nearing a crucial Senate test with the administration unable to count on the strong Republican support necessary to win.

The Senate Finance Committee starts executive hearings Tuesday into Nixon's welfare reform program, including the guaranteed income plan, and a related Social Security measure. Both have passed the House.

Nine Votes Needed

The administration needs at least nine votes among the 10 Democrats and seven Republicans on the committee to clear the legislation for Senate debate.

However, a key Democratic source, who asked not to be named, said there are not enough votes among committee members of his party to get the bill to the floor. "The President is going to have to get some more help from the Republicans," he said.

Strategists Confident

But, administration strategists admit they are confident only of the vote of Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, but hope to pick up more support in the closed committee sessions.

The guaranteed income provision that is sparking the GOP reluctance — downright opposition in some cases — is formally known as the Family Assistance Plan, or FAP.

It would, for example, provide a basic, federally financed income floor of $1,600 to every four-member family in the nation, increasing the welfare rolls to a potential 24 million persons, compared with 10 million now.

Cost Plan Too Low

Several Republicans on the committee say the projected cost of $4.1 billion a year for the plan is too low.

The Social Security measure, which the committee will start with Tuesday, is considered a sure bet to clear the panel and may be the vehicle for floor debate on guaranteed income.

Some FAP foes, led by Sen. John J. Williams, D-Del., are considering trying to limit it to a small pilot study which may be tacked onto the Social Security bill.

Amendment Possible

But several senators have said if the welfare bill is bottled up in committee, they will offer FAP as an amendment to the Social Security measure.

That bill provides a 5 per cent boost in all Social Security benefits next January, future automatic increases in payments when the cost of living rises 3 per cent and tighter controls on medicare and medicaid costs.

Weather

ESCANABA AND VICINITY—Variable cloudiness and cool with chance of showers, high around 50. Partly cloudy and cool tonight, lows between 32 and 37. Cloudy and a little warmer Tuesday with chance of showers late in day, high in the mid-50s. Escanaba's high Sunday was 58 with a low reading of 37 recorded overnight. Winds northwesterly 8 to 16 mph today and southwesterly under 10 mph tonight, increasing Tuesday. Probabilities of precipitation: 30 per cent today, 10 per cent tonight and 30 per cent Tuesday. Sun sets today at 6:35 and rises Tuesday at 6:44.

Teachers Return:

Schools Reopen At Rapid River Today

Rapid River Public Schools were reopened today with 27 of the 38 striking teachers reporting for duty at the invitation of the Board of Education.

Gerald Manville, school superintendent, said the room count showed 830 students in attendance at an anticipated 848 and that "attendance in several rooms is 100 per cent."

"I know that I can speak for the Board of Education in saying that we are eager to resume normal operations and provide the best possible education for our children," he added.

Rhodes is absent.

The Rapid River Schools were scheduled to open on Aug. 31 but the opening was delayed because the teachers represented by the Rapid River Education Association and the Board of Education could not arrive at a new contract agreement.

Only teacher not reporting for classes this morning was Ross Rhodes, who headed the Rapid River Education Association until Sunday night. The RREA issued the following statement today:

The members of the Rapid River Education Association voted last night to open school on Monday, Sept. 22, at 8 a.m., under terms already agreed upon as well as the economic terms last set forth by the Board of Education.

"We cannot in good faith or in all honesty permit Rapid River students to be taught by inexperienced, unqualified or uncertified teachers," Robert Hager, newly installed president of the RREA said.

Had Other Teachers

The Association teachers agreed to resume their teaching duties on condition that the Rapid River Board of Education commences good faith bargaining in order to reach an acceptable bargaining agreement.

In concluding the statement, Hager said:

"The Association has pledged its continued effort to bring a quality education program to Rapid River."

The Board of Education had announced last Thursday that it intended to hold classes in the district on Monday with replacement teachers if necessary. The school system was then approaching five weeks of delay in opening the 1970-71 school year.

Supt. Manville had reported that 24 certified teachers were available to enter the classrooms today, and that 21 mothers who are not certified teachers were also ready to assist in the proposed reopening of schools.

Death Claims Mrs. Jungles

Mrs. Ann Jungles, 73, of 915 2nd Ave. S. died at 8:10 p.m. Saturday at St. Francis Hospital following a brief illness.

She was born March 8, 1907 in Trenchy and came to Escanaba as a young girl, residing here since that time. Mrs. Jungles was a member of St. Joseph's Church, Daughters of Isabella and the Chicago & Northwestern Women's Club. Her husband died in 1946.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William (Ellen) Cooper of Warren and Mrs. Raymond (Dorothy) Fish of Livonia; two brothers, John and Leonard Paulsen of Coos Bay, Ore.; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Al-Fin Funeral Home from 4 to 8:30 p.m. Monday and parish prayers will be recited at 8 p.m. The funeral service will be held at St. Joseph's Church with the Rev. Fabian Gerold officiating and burial will be at Gardens of Rest Cemetery.

Jacobetti Hurt In Auto Mishap

MARQUETTE — State Rep. Dominick J. Jacobetti of Marquette and three other persons were injured in a three-car accident at 8:10 Friday night on U.S. 41 at Bancroft Location.

Michigan State Police from the Marquette post said the injured were taken by ambulance to St. Luke's Hospital for treatment.

Spokesmen at the hospital told investigating officers that Jacobetti, alone in one of the cars, suffered head lacerations, neck and chest injuries.

Another driver, Chester J. LeValley, 57, Birch Grove Trailer Court, Marquette, was slightly injured; and his wife, Frances, 55, a passenger, sustained cuts on her right hand and chest injuries.

The driver of the third car, Curtis R. Swanson, 19, of 2443 Badger St., Marquette, received a large bump on his head. Swanson also was alone in his car.

Police said the mishap occurred when the three cars were being driven west and LeValley started to make a left turn into a side road. Jacobetti's car struck the rear of the LeValley auto and Jacobetti's vehicle in turn was hit in the back end by Swanson's car.

It was raining and the road was wet at the time, state police indicated on their report.

All three vehicles were extensively damaged and had to be removed from the scene by wreckers.

Police are continuing their investigation.

Ottawa County Road Commission Files Land Suit

CHARLE HAVEN (AP) — Ottawa County Road Commission has filed suit in Circuit Court to prevent a landowner from establishing a land fill on county-owned property adjoining Pigeon Creek Park in the township.

Valderr said he filed the suit in Ottawa County Circuit Court on behalf of the township board.

The suit requests a hearing and a permanent injunction and asked the area be restricted to park and recreation use only.

The board contends the property was acquired by Ottawa County for recreation uses.

The proposed land fill is to serve the needs of Grand Haven, Spring Lake and Ferrysburg.

Typing Schedule Change Proposed

Robert Karki, director, announces a change in scheduling of the typing course offered by the Community School Program. Originally scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday evenings, this course will now be offered for three hours each Thursday evening, in an effort to accommodate present and prospective students. This typing course should not be confused with the Refresher Typing.

Adults without a high school diploma are eligible to take advantage of the course free of charge and gain high school credit by so doing. The charge for other interested adults is $10.00.

The typing class will meet each Thursday for 15 weeks beginning October 1, 1970, at 7:00 p.m.

Interested persons may register by calling the Community School Office, 786-4658.

Must Yet Agree

The School Board and the superintendent urged all parents to send their children to school for classes today.

The teachers through their Education Association on Friday asked parents to keep the children at home.

They charged the Board of Education with "spending all of its time and energy just trying to break the teachers' organization," and warned parents the school classrooms must be under supervision of teachers fully certified by the state.

The decision of the teachers to return to their classrooms came at a meeting Sunday night, with the stated condition that the "Rapid River Board of Education commence good faith bargaining in order to reach an acceptable collective bargaining agreement."

Injunctions Issued In Munising Strike

MUNISING — Two temporary injunctions were issued here Friday afternoon by Circuit Court Judge William F. Hood, Manistique, after allegations on which they were based went uncontested by the two unions which represent employees of the Munising Mill of the Kimberly-Clark Corp.

The first injunction, which was requested by Kimberly-Clark, restrains Local No. 87 of the United Papermakers Union and Local No. 96 of the Pulp and Sulphite Workers from preventing free access to and from Kimberly-Clark property. The second injunction, sought by the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railroad, restrains the unions from interfering with the movement of LS&I trains on railroad or Kimberly-Clark property.

The two injunctions were served on union officials by Alger County Sheriff Dan Malone.

The strike at Kimberly-Clark, which entered its 16th day Saturday, has completely closed down Alger County's largest industry and has idled 450 hourly employees.

Wilson Woman Dies In Auto Accident

Two automobile accidents over the weekend resulted in death for a Rte. 1, Wilson woman and caused injuries to five other persons, according to a report received from the Gladstone State Police today.

Mrs. Sophia Quistorff, 61, of Rte. 1, Wilson, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident, which happened at 2:10 a.m. Sunday on U.S. 2 and 41, one-half of a mile west of County Road 557 in Harris Township in Menominee County.

Head-On Crash

Mrs. Quistorff was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Clarence, 63, when their vehicle collided head-on with another automobile driven by Raymond Bruley, 55, of Rte. 1, Hermansville.

Officers said that the Quistorff vehicle was headed east and Bruley was going west on U.S. 2 and 41, when the Bruley vehicle crossed the centerline and collided with the Quistorff auto. The accident is still under investigation officers said.

Two Hospitalized

Quistorff and Bruley were taken to St. Francis Hospital, where Quistorff is reported to be in fair to good condition. Bruley was transferred to Iron Mountain Sunday.

The second accident occurred at 1:20 p.m. Saturday on County Road 525 at County Road 416.

Drivers of the two automobiles involved in the mishap were Verne Slagstad, 46, of Rte. 1, Cornell and Helen Poquette, 56, of Northland. A third person, Laura Grozynski, 69, also of Northland, was taken to St. Francis Hospital along with the drivers and all three were treated and released.

Ticket Issued

Officers said that the Poquette car was headed east on County Road 416 and pulled out in front of the Slagstad vehicle, which was going north on County Road 525. Helen Poquette was issued a ticket for failing to yield the right of way, officer said.

Mrs. Sophia Quistorff was born June 25, 1909, in Wilson, where she resided most of her life. She was a member of the Salem Lutheran Church of Bark River.

She is survived by her husband, one sister, Mrs. John (Mary) Otradovec of Wells; five brothers, Joseph, John and George Herbeck of Powers, Charles Herbeck of Lynn, Mass., and Felix Herbeck of Escanaba; and several nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the Boyle Funeral Chapel in Bark River on Tuesday from 4 to 9:30 p.m. and funeral services will be held in the funeral chapel at 2 p.m. Wednesday with Rev. Charles Beckingham officiating. Burial will be in the Gardens of Rest Cemetery.

Harry Doesn't Mind Shortage Of Power

By JERRY J. ALLEN
Escanaba Daily Press Staff Writer

Harry, a bachelor, wakes in the morning via an elaborate electrical system that at one time activates his FM tuner, vibrates his bed gently and starts warming his coffee.

Rising after a comfortable air-conditioned night (he has an air-conditioner in every room of his 15-room house—each left on full blast at all times), Harry clicks on his bedroom television for the morning news and heads for the bathroom. Once there he clicks on the bathroom television so as not to miss any important announcements—such as a report on an impending power crisis—and begins his toilet.

ing up his shaving cream. After shaving and moisturizing (he dries himself under a special heat lamp), he moves to the kitchen to make breakfast. Clicking on the kitchen television, he pours some coffee and begins breakfast preparation. The sausage goes in one pan on his electric stove while his scrambled eggs are made in an electric frypan. His toast, meantime, is crisping in his eight-slice toaster.

An electric timer, of course, tells him when each part of his breakfast is ready.

He adjourns to the dining room, turns on his 24-bulb chandelier, clicks on the dining-room television and eats breakfast—each part of which he kept warm until he's ready for it in an electric food warmer.

It's back to the bedroom again where he cleans off his business suit with an electric air brush and brushes up his shoes with an electric shoe polisher.

What happens next is a phenomenon Harry is most proud of. He's the only one on his block to have this particular gadget. He presses a button near the hallway light, activating an automatic electrical starter in his garage which starts his car. The purpose: to allow his car to sufficiently warm up before Harry goes to work.

Harry takes an elevator to his air-conditioned garage—his house is split-level—and gets in his car, its air conditioning already running.

He presses a button on the dash and the garage door opens automatically and Harry's is off to work.

To suggest to Harry that he might be using a great deal of electricity needlessly, particularly during a power shortage, is to no avail.

"I can't do without life's essentials," he retorts.

Perhaps what Harry really needs is an additional piece of electrical gadgetry which he has yet to try: shock treatment.

Militant Philosophy Confinement Cause

Kathy Boaz, a receptionist at the Grand Rapids Methodist Community House, has been confined to Kalamazoo State Hospital since Aug. 26.

Henry Beskin, a lawyer who filed a request Friday with the State Court of Appeals to have Miss Boaz released, said she was lured into going to the hospital and once in, she was unable to get out.

Her supervisor at the community house, Kenneth Smith, said Saturday she was committed by a foster parent who did not like the philosophy of the Republic of New Africa (RNA) which Miss Boaz belongs to. In effect, he said, she is a "political prisoner."

Under a 1965 state law, a minor may be committed to a mental hospital at the written request of a parent or guardian and cannot be released without the approval from the parent or guardian.

The RNA is an organization which demands reparations from the U.S. government in payment for centuries of oppression of black people and demands that five southern American states be separated and given to the RNA for forming a new nation of black people.

There is nothing mentally wrong with Miss Boaz, Beskin said, adding that she could have been committed under a different state law or the testimony of two psychiatrists.

An earlier effort to gain her release was denied Sept. 17 in Kalamazoo Circuit Court by Judge Wade Van Walkeburg.

Beskin said he is basing his appeal on U.S. Supreme Court decisions saying juveniles must have the same treatment under the law as adults.

Progress Not Byword In GM Strike Talks

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators for the United Auto Workers Union and General Motors met again today but there was little hope for any major progress toward settlement of a two-week-old strike that has closed most of GM's facilities.

Noneconomic issues and settlement of local, in-plant issues were on the agenda for today's bargaining session. No significant progress was reported in negotiations over the weekend.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock, who attended a meeting of striking Canadian GM workers at Oshawa, Ont. today, said he would attend all future national-level bargaining sessions.

The company's chief negotiator, Vice President Earl Bramblett, said the company had no immediate plans to make another offer to the union in hopes of ending the strike which has idled 337,000 GM workers.

"We have a fine offer out," Bramblett said Sunday.

The company's last offer, presented shortly before old contracts expired Sept. 14, offered a 38 cent an hour average wage increase in the first year of a proposed three-year pact. The union is demanding 61.6 cents.

On another major demand, for retirement at a $500 monthly pension after 30 years service without regard to age, GM has proposed retirement after 30 years with a $500 pension at age 55, with $40 a month deducted for each year under 55.

The union's third major demand is for restoration of the unlimited cost-of-living allowance formula in effect until the 1967 contract. The recently expired pact had a limit to eight cents an hour per year in cost-of-living raises and GM, in its last offer, proposed raising the limit to 14 cents.

The UAW agreed over the weekend to allow several hundred striking members who are engaged in antipollution and safety projects to return to their jobs at GM. Woodcock explained the move, saying the union is just as concerned about safety and pollution as the company is.

Outgrow Bedwetting When?

Half the children wetting the bed at age 5 will be wetting at age 11. And bedwetting can go ON and ON.

Walter C. Alvarez, M.D., Prof. Emeritus, Mayo Clinic, says: "What can the doctor prescribe . . . He can send the child to a urologist or psychiatrist, but really can't help him . . . We physicians should know that 7 in 100 may never be cured because of medical reasons." Phyllis International has found bedwetting for tens of thousands in the past two decades and it can't be cured by surgery, diet or drugs, we can end the problem for both children and adults. Harry Doesn't Mind Shortage Of Power

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN
NEW YORK (AP) — During the recent power crunch along the Eastern Seaboard, many conscientious citizens began thinking about ways in which they were wasting electricity. But not my friend Harry.

Perhaps he should have because I suspect that if he had the power, the emergency would have been avoided.

Harry, a bachelor, wakes in the morning via an elaborate electrical system that at one time activates his FM tuner, vibrates his bed gently and starts warming his coffee.

Rising after a comfortable air-conditioned night (he has an air-conditioner in every room of his 12-room house—each left on full blast at all times), Harry clicks on his bedroom television for the morning news and heads for the bathroom. Once there he clicks on the bathroom television so as not to miss any important announcements—such as a report on an impending power crisis—and begins his toilet.

ing up his shaving cream for later use.

After shaving and showering (he dries himself under a special heat lamp), he moves to the kitchen to make breakfast. Clicking on the kitchen television, he pours some coffee and begins breakfast preparation. The sausage goes in one pan on his electric stove while his scrambled eggs are made in an electric frypan. His toast, meantime, is crisping in his eight-slice toaster.

An electric timer, of course, tells him when each part of his breakfast is ready.

He adjourns to the dining room, turns on his 24-bulb chandelier, clicks on the dining-room television and eats breakfast—each part of which he kept warm until he's ready for it in an electric food warmer.

It's back to the bedroom again where he cleans off his business suit with an electric air brush and brushes up his shoes with an electric shoe polisher.

What happens next is a phenomenon Harry is most proud of. He's the only one on his block to have this particular gadget. He presses a button near the hallway light, activating an automatic electrical starter in his garage which starts his car. The purpose: to allow his car to sufficiently warm up before Harry goes to work.

Harry takes an elevator to his air-conditioned garage—his house is split-level—and gets in his car, its air conditioning already running.

He presses a button on the dash and the garage door opens automatically and Harry's is off to work.

To suggest to Harry that he might be using a great deal of electricity needlessly, particularly during a power shortage, is to no avail.

"I can't do without life's essentials," he retorts.

Perhaps what Harry really needs is an additional piece of electrical gadgetry which he has yet to try: shock treatment.

Militant Philosophy Confinement Cause

Kathy Boaz, a receptionist at the Grand Rapids Methodist Community House, has been confined to Kalamazoo State Hospital since Aug. 26.

Henry Baskin, a lawyer who filed a request Friday with the State Court of Appeals to have Miss Boaz released, said she was lured into going to the hospital and once in, she was unable to get out.

Her supervisor at the community house, Kenneth Smith, said Saturday she was committed by a foster parent who did not like the philosophy of the Republic of New Africa (RNA) which Miss Boaz belongs to. In effect, he said, she is a "political prisoner."

Death Penalty?

The U. S. Supreme Court has long procrastinated in the matter of one of the most controversial issues in the administration of justice in the United States — capital punishment. Now it appears that, perhaps in November, the court will hear the appeals of two men in Death Row in California and Ohio. The ruling handed down by the court may decide the fate of more than 550 men and three women who are behind bars across the nation under death sentences. Some have been there for as long as 10 years. The appeals have had the effect of delaying the execution of condemned men and women for the past several years. The last time the death penalty was carried out in the United States was on June 2, 1967, when Luis Jose Monge was executed in Colorado's gas chamber for murdering his wife and two children.

After the Supreme Court acts on the two appeals this fall, the execution rate could rise precipitously or the death penalty could become a thing of the past in the United States, as it is in Michigan — depending on how the nine justices vote. (The ninth justice, incidentally, is Harry A. Blackmun, who was appointed by President Nixon this year and confirmed by the Senate and who has stated publicly that he does not believe in the principle of capital punishment. On July 11, 1968, as an appellate judge, Blackmun dismissed the appeal of William L. Maxwell's death sentence for rape and said he found it "particularly excruciating" to do so.)

The two men whose appeals are to be heard by the Supreme Court this fall are Dennis McGautha, one of 89 men in the death wing at California's San Quentin Prison, and James Cramp-ton, under death sentence in the prison at Columbus, Ohio. McGautha was convicted of murder in the holding slaying of a grocer. Cramp-ton was found guilty of killing his wife with her father's revolver.

In the past, attempts have been made by attorneys to have defendants spared from the death penalty on the grounds that the death sentence violates the Eighth Amendment, which prohibits "cruel and unusual punishment."

But counsel for McGautha and Cramp-ton are appealing under the 14th amendment, which declares that no state may "deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law."

In the case of McGautha, the jury which found him guilty also was given the alternative of sentencing him to life in prison or condemning him to death. In fact, the jury gave a life sentence to William Wilkinson, who was convicted of first degree murder with McGautha in the same holding. Each claimed the other fired the fatal shot.

This, said McGautha's attorney, Herman F. Selvin of Beverly Hills, Calif., "illustrates the capricious and arbitrary way in which the standard death penalty procedure may and is permitted by the State of California to work. Of two men, equally guilty and jointly tried, only one has been selected by the jury to be put to death."

The same claim about juries exercising discretion in setting penalties will be filed on behalf of Cramp-ton.

(Maxwell also contended that his death sentence was unconstitutional because Arkansas, from where he was sentenced also tries the questions of guilt and punishment simultaneously, and juries in Arkansas are given no instructions to guide them in deciding whether to impose the death sentence or life imprisonment in capital cases.)

Besides the legal questions surrounding capital punishment, there are practical and moral questions that severely weaken the case for the death penalty.

There is no solid statistical support for the premise that capital punishment reduces the rate of crime. "Centuries of history leave any deterrence at all a matter of doubt, and psychology confirms that persons contemplating commission of crime are either not thinking of punishment or are confident that it will not happen to them," according to an article in the Journal of the American Judicature Society.

As for the moral question, T. Duffy said it as well as anyone. He is a former warden of San Quentin Prison, where McGautha now awaits the Supreme Court decision. "The death penalty," Duffy told a Senate judiciary subcommittee a couple of years ago, "is wrong on the simple, understandable statement that 'it is wrong to kill.'"

Whatever the court decision, however, at least the persons on death row will know their fate.

Are Reds Closing In For Chile Take Over?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The news from Chile remains most disconcerting.

Dr. Salvador Allende, the candidate of a socialist-Communist coalition, is waiting for the Chilean Congress to confirm him as President (he won in a three-way popular election by virtue of a 36 per cent vote). Allende cannot get the necessary parliamentary ratification without the swing vote of the Christian Democrats, who could defeat him by combining with the Nationalists.

The evil portent is that the Chilean Christian Democrats may follow the innocent doctrine once urged on all socialist short-of-Communism parties everywhere by Arthur Schlesinger Jr. and Richard Goodwin in the palm days of John F. Kennedy. That means they will act on a spuriously high-minded basis on Oct. 24 to give Allende the green light simply because Chilean parliamentarians have always trusted all political parties to observe the Chilean traditions of free elections.

The Christian Democrats, in Latin America as elsewhere, have built their popularity in the past by offering programs billed as an "alternative" to Communism. The "alternative" in Chile, however, will no longer be possible if a socialist-Communist coalition proceeds to negate the popular economic base for freedom by abolishing significant private ownership.

Dr. Eduardo Frei, the Christian Democratic President about to go out of office, cannot perceive that pluralistic politics is dependent on the existence of different strata in society that control their own livelihoods.

Frei, according to the dispatches, is now busy trying to extract pledges from Allende. There must be a "guarantee" that the socialist-Communist coalition, a minority of the population, will observe the Chilean election laws in the future, interposing no obstacles to party campaigning by Christian Democrats, Nationalists or whomever. There must be an iron-clad promise to respect the freedom of the press. And there must be no tampering with the Chilean armed forces.

If Frei and his Christian Democrats are satisfied with Allende's word, the probabilities are that, come Oct. 24, Allende as an out-and-out Marxist friend of Fidel Castro will be confirmed as President of Chile.

What will happen is easy to predict on a basis of what has come to pass in other countries (remember the Czechoslovakia of Jan Masaryk's time?) when Communists get possession of key power jobs in a nominally democratic government.

Once in power Allende will be utterly dependent on Communist support. The army can be made an arm of the reigning coalition simply by promoting the right men. "Nationalization" of the "commanding heights of industry" will automatically deprive people of the private earnings needed to support a free press and a free TV-radio system. Free elections may be permitted in the future, but the non-Communist parties will be mere shadows of what they once were.

There will be a dictatorship behind the facade of freedom.

If the whole lamentable business could be limited to Chile the free world might be able to "digest" one more Latin American Castro regime. But what effect will the collapse of the Chilean Christian Democrats have on their brother Christian Democratic party in Venezuela?

The Christian Democratic President of Venezuela, Dr. Rafael Caldera, has been following the lines laid down by President Eduardo Frei in Chile. Caldera's "alternative" to Communism has led paradoxically to a resurgence of the Venezuela Communist Party, which has taken the name of the Union Para Avanzar (UPA) in order to get it-

Nixon Names Postal Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has taken the first major step toward turning over the U.S. Postal Service to an independent corporation-like federal agency, naming a nine-member board of governors that will be in charge of running it.

Postmaster General William M. Blount said the board named by Nixon Friday represents all sections of the nation and "provides the necessary expertise to direct the postal service toward a sound future."

The nine governors will decide the exact date the postal service will be reshaped into an independent agency, thus fulfilling Nixon's scheme for reform of the 181-year-old service.

Under terms of the bill approved by Congress, conversion must take place within a year. Blount was absent from the list, but that did not rule out his chances of remaining postmaster general. The nine board members will choose a postmaster general as well as a deputy, boosting the size of the board to 11 members.

Nixon withheld his choices for the five-member postal rate commission that will determine charges for mail service.

The nine nominees were selected for staggered terms ranging from one to nine years. Eventually all board members will serve nine years, subject to mandatory retirement at age 70. Selected for the nine-year term was M.A. Wright, 59, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Humble Oil and Refining Co., Houston, Tex.

Appeal Started By Bobby Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Senate secretary Bobby Baker has filed an appeal with the U.S. Supreme Court seeking to overturn his conviction on seven counts of an indictment charging larceny, income tax evasion and related offenses. Baker's 1967 conviction was upheld by the U.S. Court of Appeals on June 30 and the same court denied a petition for a rehearing on July 25. In appealing to the Supreme Court Friday, Baker's attorney, Edward Samuel Williams, asked it to review, among other factors, Baker's conviction by a jury composed entirely of government employees.

self legalized.

To bring about "peace" Caldera has proclaimed an amnesty for guerrillas. He has also reopened trade relations with Communist countries. And he has hinted at resuming diplomatic relations with Castro's Cuba.

With freedom to operate as a legitimate party, and with Communist country embassies able to pass secret funds to Venezuelan newspapers and TV-radio stations, the Communists have stepped up their infiltration of every crucial Venezuelan institution from the army to the universities.

If Caldera proves as weak as Chile's Frei, the domino effect of what is about to happen in Chile will in all probability bring Communism close to the southern approaches to the Panama Canal.

The U. S., which has forsworn direct intervention in Latin American politics, will have to take it. By then the whole Caribbean region could be in flames, and the U. S. could be isolated in its own hemisphere.

VICIOUS PROPOSAL?

I am appalled at the viciousness of the proposed amendment to the constitution concerning percolaid. What else could I call a proposal that would deny a child of library and health services, athletic programs, and driver's education programs to say nothing of the possible effects to fire and police protection.

It would seem that the proponents of this amendment would have in mind the sole objective of bringing about the swift closing of non-public schools in the state of Michigan.

Although my children attend parochial schools, I have always supported the public schools at the voting polls merely because I believe quality schools will produce quality citizens. I thought this was a common goal shared by all concerned with our society. I am disheartened to learn otherwise.

Mrs. Ernest Leonard
Mount Pleasant (Kipling)
Gladstone

(Editor's Note: The scope of the proposed percolaid amendment which will be on Michigan ballot in November has not been determined by the courts. The view that it could eliminate such things as police and fire protection appears to be one extreme. Proponents argue that the percolaid amendment is within the educational section of the Constitution and, as such, will apply only to educational matters.)

North East South West
Pass 3♦ Pass Pass

Opening lead—Jack of spades. There is a lot of luck, even in duplicate bridge, as illustrated by this deal played in 1967 in the match between Italy and France.

At the first table, Szwarc, playing with Boulenger for France, opened the bidding on his junky hand with three spades. His timing was perfect, for he caught Avarilli with a 27-point hand that offered no clear-cut way of dealing with the preemptive bid.

Avarilli could have doubled instead of bidding three no-trump, but he had no assurance that he would know what to do after his partner (Belladonna) responded to the double. Avarilli made six no-trump very easily, and could also have made six hearts, but he had to settle for a plus of only 480 points.

At the second table, where Setton and Tintner were North-South for France, there was no preemptive bid by East and they bid uninterruptedly as follows:

North East South West
Pass Pass 2♦ Pass
2♦ Pass 2♦ Pass
3♦ Pass 3NT Pass

Five no-trump was the grand slam force asking North to jump to seven if he had two of the three top trump honors. Setton reasoned that his sixth diamond was equivalent to having the queen of diamonds alongside his king, and on that basis—since he expected Tintner to have four diamonds to the ace—he went all the way.

Due to the bad luck of the trumpets Setton went down two—even though the grand slam was mathematically a better-than-even-money shot. Italy gained 500 points on the deal, but they would have lost 500 points had the East-West diamonds been divided evenly.

Michigan Bell Asks Immediate Rate Increase

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Bell Telephone Co. officials asked Ingham County circuit court for permission to impose immediately a 14.8 million in rate hikes already approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The company asked that it be allowed to collect the higher rates under bond until the PSC makes a final decision on specifics of the increased charges.

On Aug. 31, the PSC approved a three per cent hike in the telephone company's rates. It was the first rate increase for Michigan Bell since 1959.

The company was ordered to promptly file a set of specific charges to collect the added income. The company did as ordered and it hoped to put the new charges into effect after two days of commission hearings this week.

But, the commission adjourned its hearing until Oct. 6 and 7 after rejecting a Michigan Bell request to collect the higher rates under bond.

And Landers Psychiatrist's Help Helps Remove Scars

Dear Ann Landers: It has taken me a long time to write this letter. Years, perhaps. But now I am ready.

I was always considered mature and highly intelligent for my age. My grades were excellent, I was one of the prettiest girls in my crowd. Whatever I wanted I got. This was the face I presented to the world. Inside I was a different person—restless, unsure of myself and I trusted no one. My parents had both been married several times; they were heavy drinkers and constantly at war with each other. People often remarked, "Isn't it extraordinary that with her hectic family life she is so well adjusted?"

Well adjusted? At age 13 I was on drugs. All kinds of junk. At 17 I was pregnant. Luckily I had a miscarriage and my parents never knew. At 18 I married a real nut. He was a speed freak with a violent temper. One night he beat me up so severely I was convinced if I didn't divorce him he'd kill me.

It was my lawyer who changed my life. He told me if I didn't get professional help I'd end up at the bottom of the Hudson River.

I've been seeing a professional analyst for only a few weeks, but I now understand why my life has been such a mess. I now know that my father is an alcoholic and my mother is as sick as he is. I know, too, that it's up to me to stop looking for scapegoats and to make something of my life.

For years I've been reading your advice. "Get professional help"—"see a psychiatrist"—etc. I thought you were kidding, but I realize now how right you were. If I hadn't waited so long to get professional help I wouldn't have all these scars at age 19. — Respectfully, L. A. U.

Dear L. A. U.: Don't knock the scars, Honey. They can be more for you than medals. I appreciate your letter and thank you for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I think it is rotten the way frilly, woman-hating designers have conspired with the greedy manufacturers to lower the hemlines.

Abside from the fact that the mid-calf skirts are ugly, and anti-feminine, they are uncomfortable, a hassle to driving and difficult to walk in. Worse yet, the "new look" has made millions of dollars worth of wardrobe skeletons and the average woman cannot afford to throw out everything in her closet and start again.

I hope you will do what you can to urge American women to refuse to buy the long look. If enough women leave these monstrosities on the racks, the style-setters will get the message.—Mini Forever

Dear Mini: Thanks for writing. Here's another point of view:

Dear Ann Landers: Thank God the mini is out and decency is in. I am an executive secretary (age 38) and, I might add, my legs are good. I wore my skirts four inches above the knee because it was considered the "in" thing but I am delighted to see the mini pass out of the picture.

Every time I sat down I worried about what was showing. My hosiery bills were murder. Now, with longer skirts and boots, I'll save a fortune. I've discovered I can use most of my money by wearing them as turtles over a long-sleeved shirt. For the first time in four years I feel like a lady. And if the guys don't whistle—so what. Let 'em guess.—Relieved

If you have trouble getting along with your parents... if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send $6.00 in cash with your request and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Police Fire Trap Nets 40 Arrests

FRANKLINTON, N.C. (AP) — Police were fed up with ambulance and fire truck chasers so they cried wolf.

Some 200 motorists hooked to what looked like a fire and rescue scene. Many others turned away when they saw that the police had staged the scene and were handing out citations rapidly.

Officers say they issued about 40 citations for violations ranging from blocking fire trucks to following too close behind an emergency vehicle.

Death Penalty?

The U. S. Supreme Court has long procrastinated in the matter of one of the most controversial issues in the administration of justice in the United States — capital punishment. Now it appears that, perhaps in November, the court will hear the appeals of two men in Death Rows in California and Ohio. The ruling handed down by the court may decide the fate of more than 550 men and three women who are behind bars across the nation under death sentences. Some have been there for as long as 10 years. The appeals have had the effect of delaying the execution of condemned men and women for the past several years. The last time the death penalty was carried out in the United States was on June 2, 1967, when Luis Jose Monge was executed in Colorado's gas chamber for murdering his wife and two children.

After the Supreme Court acts on the two appeals this fall, the execution rate could rise precipitously or the death penalty could become a thing of the past in the United States, as it is in Michigan — depending on how the nine justices vote. (The ninth justice, incidentally, is Harry A. Blackburn, who was appointed by President Nixon this year and confirmed by the Senate and who has stated publicly that he does not believe in the principle of capital punishment. On July 11, 1968, as an appellate judge, Blackburn dismissed the appeal of William L. Maxwell's death sentence for rape and said he found it "particularly excruciating" to do so.)

The two men whose appeals are to be heard by the Supreme Court this fall are Dennis McGautha, one of 89 men in the death wing at California's San Quentin Prison, and James Crampton, under death sentence in the prison at Columbus, Ohio. McGautha was convicted of murder in the holdup slaying of a grocer. Crampton was found guilty of killing his wife with her father's revolver.

In the past, attempts have been made by attorneys to have defendants spared from the death penalty on the grounds that the death sentence violates the Eighth Amendment, which prohibits "cruel and unusual punishment."

But counsel for McGautha and Crampton are appealing under the 14th amendment, which declares that no state may "deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law."

In the case of McGautha, the jury which found him guilty also was given the alternative of sentencing him to life in prison or condemning him to death. In fact, the jury gave a life sentence to William Wilkinson, who was convicted of first degree murder with McGautha in the same holdup. Each claimed the other fired the fatal shot.

This, said McGautha's attorney, Herman F. Selvin of Beverly Hills, Calif., "illustrates the capricious and arbitrary way in which the standardless death penalty procedure may and is permitted by the State of California to work. Of two men, equally guilty and jointly tried, only one has been selected by the jury to be put to death."

The same claim about juries exercising discretion in setting penalties will be filed on behalf of Crampton.

(Maxwell also contended that his death sentence was unconstitutional because Arkansas, from where he was sentenced also tries the questions of guilt and punishment simultaneously, and juries in Arkansas are given no instructions to guide them in deciding whether to impose the death sentence or life imprisonment in capital cases.)

Besides the legal questions surrounding capital punishment, there are practical and moral questions that severely weaken the case for the death penalty.

There is no solid statistical support for the premise that capital punishment reduces the rate of crime. "Centuries of history leave any deterrence at all a matter of doubt, and psychology confirms that persons contemplating commission of crime are either not thinking of punishment or are confident that it will not happen to them," according to an article in the Journal of the American Judicature Society.

As for the moral question, T. Duffy said it as well as anyone. He is a former warden of San Quentin Prison, where McGautha now awaits the Supreme Court decision. "The death penalty," Duffy told a Senate judiciary subcommittee a couple of years ago, "is wrong on the simple, understandable statement that it is wrong to kill."

Whatever the court decision, however, at least the persons on death row will know their fate.

Edward G. McNamara Jr., community leader and attorney, was honored as "Man of the Year" at the annual St. Ignace Area Chamber of Commerce Dinner. McNamara, a third-generation member of his family to practice law in St. Ignace, was recognized for his contributions to the city through community service and civic activities.

The Iron Mountain Booster Club moved $312.53 closer to having the lights in Mountaineer Stadium when the Class of 1970 presented them with a check for that amount. A spokesman for the club says that they are within about $200 of having everything paid for. "They started out with a debt of $8,500. The lights at Mountaineer Stadium have been used for two years."

Twenty-eight new students have enrolled at St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing in Hancock, bringing total enrollment to a record high of 67. Forty will be graduated between April and June of 1971, the largest number to graduate since the school began in 1920. This also will be the last year for three-year students; all those enrolling now will be in a two-year program.

Are Reds Closing In For Chile Take Over?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The news from Chile remains most disconcerting.

Dr. Salvador Allende, the candidate of a socialist-Communist coalition, is waiting for the Chilean Congress to confirm him as President (he won in a three-way popular election by virtue of a 36 per cent vote). Allende cannot get the necessary parliamentary ratification without the swing vote of the Christian Democrats, who could defeat him by combining with the Nationalists.

The evil portent is that the Chilean Christian Democrats may follow the innocent doctrines once urged on all socialist short-of-Communism parties everywhere by Arthur Schlesinger Jr. and Richard Goodwin in the palm days of John F. Kennedy. That means they will act on a spuriously high-minded basis on Oct. 24 to give Allende the green light simply because Chilean parliaments have always trusted all political parties to observe the Chilean traditions of free elections.

The Christian Democrats, in Latin America as elsewhere, have built their popularity in the past by offering programs billed as an "alternative" to Communism. The "alternative" in Chile, however, will no longer be possible if a socialist-Communist coalition proceeds to negate the popular economic base for freedom by abolishing significant private ownership.

Dr. Eduardo Frei, the Christian Democratic President about to go out of office, cannot perceive that pluralistic politics is dependent on the existence of different strata in society that control their own livelihoods.

Frei, according to the dispatches, is now busy trying to extract pledges from Allende.

There must be a "guarantee" that the socialist-Communist coalition, a minority of the population, will observe the Chilean election laws in the future, interposing no obstacles to party campaigning by Christian Democrats, Nationalists or whomever. There must be an iron-clad promise to respect the freedom of the press. And there must be an assurance that there will be no tampering with the Chilean armed forces.

If Frei and his Christian Democrats are satisfied with Allende's word, the probabilities are that, come Oct. 24, Allende as an out-and-out Marxist friend of Fidel Castro will be confirmed as President of Chile.

What will happen is easy to predict on a basis of what has come to pass in other countries (remember the Czechoslovakia of Jan Masaryk's time?) when Communists get possession of key power jobs in a nominally democratic government.

Once in power Allende will be utterly dependent on Communist support. The army can be made an arm of the reigning coalition simply by promoting the right men. "Nationalization" of the "commanding heights of industry" will automatically deprive people of the private earnings needed to support a free press and a free TV-radio system. Free elections may be permitted in the future, but the non-Communist parties will be mere shadows of what they once were.

There will be a dictatorship behind the facade of freedom.

If the whole lamentable business could be limited to Chile the free world might be able to "digest" one more Latin American Castro regime. But what effect will the collapse of the Chilean Christian Democrats have on their brother Christian Democratic party in Venezuela?

The Christian Democratic President of Venezuela, Dr. Rafael Caldera, has been following the lines laid down by President Eduardo Frei in Chile. Caldera's "alternative" to Communism has led paradoxically to a resurgence of the Venezuela Communist Party, which has taken the name of the Union Para Avanzar (UPA) in order to get itself legalized.

Nixon Names Postal Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has taken the first major step toward turning over the U.S. Postal Service to an independent corporation-like federal agency, naming a nine-member board of governors that will be in charge of running it.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount said the board named by Nixon Friday represents all sections of the nation and "provides the necessary expertise to direct the postal service toward a sound future."

The nine governors will decide the exact date the postal service will be reshaped into an independent agency, thus fulfilling Nixon's scheme for reform of the 181-year-old service.

Under terms of the bill approved by Congress, conversion must take place within a year.

Blount was absent from the list, but that did not rule out his chances of remaining postmaster general. The nine board members will choose a postmaster general as well as a deputy, boosting the size of the board to 11 members.

Nixon withheld his choices for the five-member postal rate commission that will determine charges for mail service.

The nine nominees were selected for staggered terms ranging from one to nine years. Eventually all board members will serve nine years, subject to mandatory retirement at age 70.

Selected for the nine-year term was M.A. Wright, 59, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Humble Oil and Refining Co., Houston, Tex.

Appeal Started By Bobby Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Senate secretary Bobby Baker has filed an appeal with the U.S. Supreme Court seeking to overturn his conviction on seven counts of an indictment charging larceny, income tax evasion and related offenses.

Baker's 1967 conviction was upheld by the U.S. Court of Appeals on June 30 and the same court denied a petition for a rehearing on July 29.

self legalized.

To bring about "peace" Caldera has proclaimed an amnesty for guerrillas. He has also reopened trade relations with Communist countries. And he has hinted at resuming diplomatic relations with Castroite Cuba.

With freedom to operate as a legitimate party, and with Communist country embassies able to pass secret funds to Venezuelan newspapers and TV-radio stations, the Communists have stepped up their infiltration of every crucial Venezuelan institution from the army to the universities.

If Caldera proves as weak as Chile's Frei, the domino effect of what is about to happen in Chile will in all probability bring Communism close to the southern approaches to the Panama Canal.

The U. S., which has sworn direct interference in Latin American politics, will have to take it. By then the whole Caribbean region could be in flames, and the U. S. could be isolated in its own hemisphere.

VICIOUS PROPOSAL?

I am appalled at the viciousness of the proposed amendment to the constitution concerning parochialism. What else could I call a proposal that would deny a child of library and health services, athletic programs, and driver's education programs to say nothing of the possible effects to fire and police protection.

It would seem that the proponents of this amendment would have in mind the sole objective of bringing about the swift closing of non-public schools in the state of Michigan.

Although my children attend parochial schools, I have always supported the public schools at the voting poll merely because I believe quality schools will produce quality citizens. I thought this was a common goal shared by all concerned with our society. I am disheartened to learn otherwise.

Mrs. Ernest Leonard

Mounted Route (Kipling) Gladstone

(Editor's Note: The scope of the proposed parochial amendment which will be on Michigan ballot in November has not been determined by the courts. The view that it could eliminate such things as police and fire protection appears to be one extreme. Proponents argue that the parochial amendment is within the educational section of the Constitution and, as such, will apply only to educational matters.)

Opening lead—jack of spades.

There is a lot of luck, even in duplicate bridge, as illustrated by this deal played in 1967 in the match between Italy and France.

At the first table, Schwarz, playing with Boulenger for France, opened the bidding on his junky hand with three spades. His timing was perfect, for he caught Avarelli with a 27-point hand that offered no clear-cut way of dealing with the preemptive bid.

Avarelli could have doubled instead of bidding three no-trump, but he had no assurance that he would know what to do after his partner (Belladonna) responded to the double. Avarelli made six no-trump very easily, and could also have made six hearts, but he had to settle for a plus of only 490 points.

At the second table, where Setten and Tintner were North-South for France, there was no preemptive bid by East and they bid uninterruptedly as follows:

North East South West

Five no-trump was the grand slam force asking North to jump to seven if he had two of the three top trump honors. Setten reasoned that his sixth diamond was equivalent to having the queen of diamonds alongside his king, and on that basis—since he expected Tintner to have four diamonds to the ace—he went all the way.

Due to the bad line of the trumps Setten went down two—even though the grand slam was mathematically a better-than-even-money shot. Italy gained 590 points on the deal, but they would have lost 950 points had the East-West diamonds been divided evenly.

Michigan Bell Asks Immediate Rate Increase

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Bell Telephone Co. officials asked Ingham County circuit court for permission to impose immediately a 14.8 million in rate hikes already approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The company asked that it be allowed to collect the higher rates under bond until the PSC makes a final decision on specifics of the increased charges.

On Aug. 31, the PSC approved a three per cent hike in the telephone company's rates. It was the first rate increase for Michigan Bell since 1960.

The company was ordered to promptly file a set of specific charges to collect the added income. The company did so and said it hoped to put the new charges into effect after two days of commission hearings this week.

But, the commission adjourned its hearing until Oct. 6 and 7 after rejecting a Michigan Bell request to collect the higher rates under bond.

Psychiatrist's Help Helps Remove Scars

Dear Ann Landers: It has taken me a long time to write this letter. Years, perhaps. But now I am ready.

I was always considered mature and highly intelligent for my age. My grades were excellent. I was one of the prettiest girls in any crowd. Whatever I wanted I got. This was the face I presented to the world. Inside I was a different person—restless, unsure of myself and I trusted no one. My parents had both been married several times; they were heavy drinkers and constantly at war with each other. People often remarked, "Isn't it extraordinary that with her hectic family life she is so well adjusted?"

Well adjusted? At age 13 I was on drugs. All kinds of junk. At 17 I was pregnant. Luckily I had a miscarriage and my parents never knew. At 18 I married a real nut. He was a speed freak with a violent temper. One night he beat me up so severely I was convinced if I didn't divorce him he'd kill me.

It was my lawyer who changed my life. He told me if I didn't get professional help I'd end up at the bottom of the Hudson River.

I've been seeing a professional analyst for only a few weeks, but I now understand why my life has been such a mess. I now know that my father is an alcoholic and my mother is as sick as he is. I know, too, that it's up to me to stop looking for scapegoats and to make something of my life.

For years I've been reading your advice. "Get professional help"—"see a psychiatrist"—etc. I thought you were coping out, but I realize now how right you were. If I hadn't waited so long to get professional help I wouldn't have all these scars at age 19. — Respectfully, L. A. U.

Dear L. A. U.: Don't knock the scars, Honey. They can do more for you than medals. I appreciate your letter and thank you for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I think it is rotten the way frumpy, woman-hating designers have conspired with the greedy manufacturers to lower the hemlines.

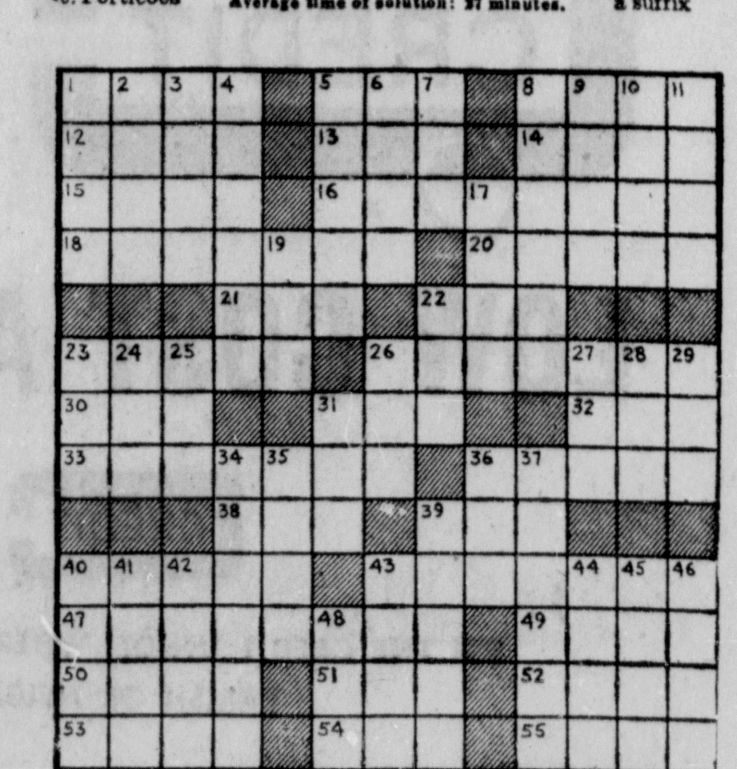

Aside from the fact that the mid-calf skirts are ugly and anti-feminine, they are uncomfortable, a hazard to driving and difficult to walk in. Worse yet, the "new look" has made millions of dollars worth of wardrobe obsolete and the average woman cannot afford to throw out everything in her closet and start again.

I hope you will do what you can to urge American women to refuse to buy the long look. If enough women leave these monstrosities on the racks, the style-setters will get the message.—Mini Forever

Police Fire Trap Nets 40 Arrests

FRANKLINTON, N.C. (AP) — Police were fed up with ambulance and fire truck chasers so they cried wolf.

Some 300 motorists flocked to what looked like a fire and rescue scene. Many others turned away when they saw that the police had staged the scene and were handing out citations rapidly.

Officers say they issued about 40 citations for violations ranging from blocking fire trucks to following too close behind an emergency vehicle.

Women Moving Steadily Into Employment Ranks

By LINDA HUBERT

NEW YORK (AP) — Changing attitudes among American women toward traditional family life are propelling more and more women into the labor force.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation reports that in 1967 female participation in the labor force was estimated nearly one-third. And since 1960 the proportion of married women aged 20 to 24 in the labor force increased from 27 to 48 per cent, while the proportion of women aged 25 to 29 in the employed ranks grew 14 per cent.

What kind of jobs? The increase in women on the employment rolls? What kind of jobs do they hold?

"An expanding economy throughout the '60s, coupled with tight labor markets in the latter half of the decade and declining unemployment, encouraged many more young women to work in their early married years," the bank says.

That job was most probably white collar type such as clerical, teaching or nursing positions; it didn't in fact, the bank says, even as early as 1960 more than half of all working women were employed in white collar jobs while only 40 per cent of working men were employed.

But underlying the supply and demand of labor is another factor, the bank says, are significant changes in women's attitudes toward home and family life.

For one thing, increasingly effective birth control techniques, have given women the means to delay or even forego childbearing. For another, the proportion of unmarried women in the total population is on the rise.

Another factor contributing to the freeing of women from the traditional roles of wife and mother has been the threat of an uncontrollable population explosion, the bank says. The result has been a trend among married couples to plan smaller families to counter the possibility of such an explosion.

Greater freedom seen With more and more women working even after marriage the bank predicts that in the years ahead women will make greater gains in traditionally male occupations. One official estimate predicts that that trend will increase over the next decade as women move into occupational requiring long-term career commitments, the bank adds.

One result of the increasing participation of these women in the labor force seems to be the growth of their monetary status. A University of Illinois study indicates a trend for women to take over the handling of family finances within the first year of marriage.

Savings Time Backers Plan Petition Count

LANSING (AP) — Proponents of a measure in favor of restoring Daylight Savings Time in Michigan hope this week to find out if they have enough signatures for a statewide vote on the issue.

State elections officials plan to survey the most recent number of signatures on petitions this week. Officials said about 20,000 new names have been added since the state last made its count.

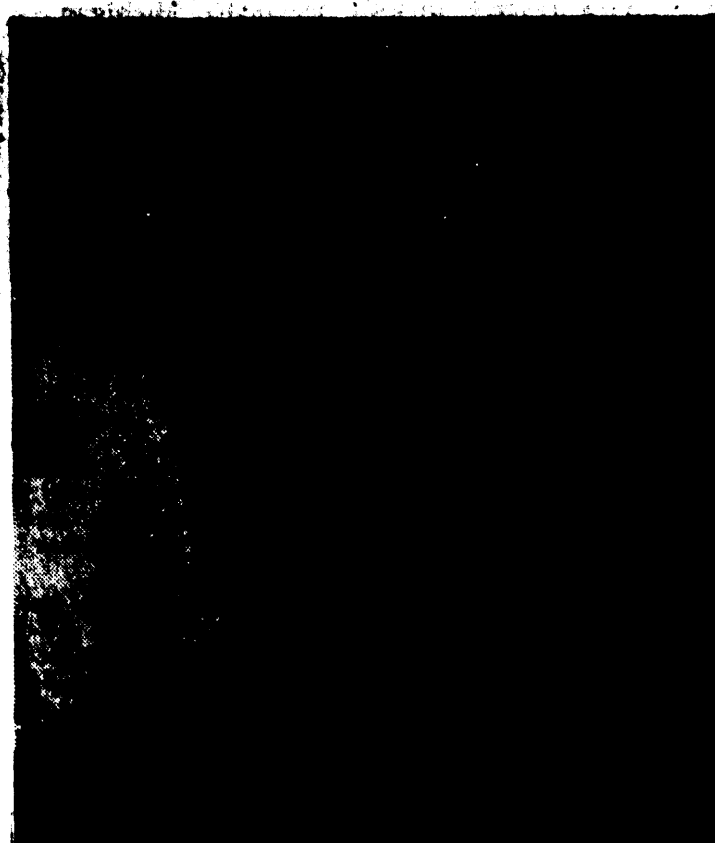

On Sept. 16, State Elections Director Bernard Apol told the state Board of Canvassers that the drive was then 2,000 names short.

Backers of the petition—which included the State Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce—then began the new petition drive.

Apol said that if the required number of signatures is found, he would then report to the State Board of Canvassers for a decision on when to put the matter on the ballot.

State elections officials noted it already is rather late to be put on the November general election ballot, since some absentee votes have been sent out in areas already. However, they said it still could appear, depending upon decisions made by either the canvassers or the Michigan Supreme Court.

In 1960, voters narrowly defeated daylight savings time. Michigan at present is one of three states which do not observe daylight savings time.

Milliken Wants Outdoor Party Rules Clarified

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has asked Michigan's city, village and township officials for reports on the state's control of outdoor gatherings.

The governor said since he made a presentation of a model ordinance last month he has received numerous requests for more information and assistance.

Milliken said the ordinance is aimed at regulating and licensing, among other things, "the new phenomenon known as the 'rock festival'."

The governor said to be of further assistance he is attempting to pull together more information. He is asking whether the proposed model ordinance, or some variation of it, has been adopted by the local governmental units.

"The ideas of community leaders are essential in helping to cope with the problems created by rock festivals," the governor said.

Held For Murder

BEAVERTON (AP) — A 40-year-old Beaverton woman was held in Gladwin County Jail Sunday on charges of first-degree murder in connection with the shotgun death of her husband.

District Judge John Ringberg ordered the woman, Mrs. Gertrude Greenacre, held in the death of Leo Greenacre, 52, last Friday.

Police said the couple had been having family trouble.

Hearing Set

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Insurance Bureau scheduled a public hearing for today on the latest rate increase sought by Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

The bureau recently refused to grant a requested 4.9 per cent increase to Blue Shield. Blue Cross has requested a rate hike of 3.3 per cent, despite a more than 50 per cent rise in rates over the last year.

Women Moving Steadily Into Employment Ranks

By LINDA RUBEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Changing attitudes among American women toward traditional family life are propelling more and more women into the labor force.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago points out that since 1947 female participation in the labor force has increased nearly one-third. And since 1965 the proportion of married women aged 20 to 24 in the labor force increased from 37 to 48 per cent, while the proportion of women aged 16 to 35 in the employed ranks grew 14 per cent.

Students Return To EMU Campus Following Strike

YPSILANTI (AP) — Some 20,000 Eastern Michigan University students were to return to classes today following settlement of a food service and maintenance employees strike that closed the university for two days last week.

A contract, calling for wage increases ranging from 19 cents to 74 cents an hour in the first year and similar wage hikes in the second and third years, was ratified by the workers Friday.

The workers, members of Local 1666 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, voted 163-55 to accept the proposal. They had been on strike since last Monday.

The university had remained open during the strike's initial stages, but closed Thursday and Friday.

Tentative agreement was reached by negotiators late Friday in bargaining sessions ordered by Washtenaw Circuit Judge William Ager.

Officials at Eastern Michigan said the new contract package will cost the school an estimated $774,000 yearly.

Business World, Market Growing Internationally

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — When Sony Corporation of Japan joined the list of 1,317 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange earlier this month it underscored the growing internationalization of both the market and the business world.

Sony is the sixth large foreign company to be listed on the Big Board in 1970, joining the Plessey Company and British Petroleum, of Britain; Northgate Exploration and Northern and Central Gas, of Canada, and Norlin Corp., of Panama.

It brought to 33 the number of foreign stock issues on the Exchange—there are also 43 foreign corporation bonds traded—and quite likely will help push foreign stock volume toward 100 million shares. In 1969 the total was 98 million shares.

"International listings," said Phillip L. West, an exchange vice president, "present very tangible evidence that share ownership has overcome the boundaries of geography, language and national customs."

Also Mortis, Sony executive vice president, gives two good reasons for seeking a listing: First, nearly 35 per cent of his company's sales are in the United States. Second, about 25 per cent of its shareholders are Americans.

If Americans think that highly of the company's products, then shouldn't they also be inclined to rate shares of the company as good buys? It makes sense, British Petroleum, which was listed on March 23, decided there was a greater interest in its shares because of several

Michigan Driver Penalties Climb

LANSING (AP) — Michigan drivers are being penalized at a record rate, reports Secretary of State James Hare. Hare said through the first two-thirds of this year more than 116,000 motorists have been subject to various types of penalties, up more than 40,000 from the same period last year. Hare added he believes many motorists who have been suspended are flouting the law by still driving.

To this day, a bridegroom marches down the aisle with his wife on his left, presumably so his sword arm will be ready to fend off thwarted suitors.

factories, including the company's involvement in Alaskan oil and its purchase of a 25 per cent interest in Standard Oil of Ohio. "We have more than 30,000 shareholders in America," a BP spokesman said, "and we felt it was as important to meet their needs as we do those of investors in Britain."

Northgate Exploration felt much the same way when it was listed Feb. 3. Said A. Garfield Hayes, vice president, "The listing reflected the fact that 60 per cent of our shareholders are U.S. citizens."

Norlin Corp., a June 1 unit, was concerned with maintaining a market for its stock—with keeping its shares available for buying and selling.

Said George H. Strong, vice president: "An exchange listing is like a good bond rating. It improves the marketability of the company's shares by providing shareholders with greater liquidity."

Another reason, which is common among American-based corporations, might be the potential advantage offered by a Big Board listing in merger and acquisition discussions.

The price of a company's shares on the exchange is often the basis for the beginning of merger negotiations.

1 The First Grand Ville. A completely new Pontiac that never existed before. A luxury car with a sensible price. The most luxurious Pontiac ever. The softest seats. The richest upholstery. The most distinctive appointments. More head room. More shoulder room. As much rear-seat leg room in the 2-door hardtop as in most 4-doors. Twice the money won't buy a smoother, quieter ride. Compare for yourself. It starts with a wider Wide-Track. A new suspension. And some new ways to marry body to chassis. Sensational. Even response is luxurious. The steering is variable-ratio power. The brakes are power with front discs. The power is a 455-cubic-inch V-8 that performs on low-lead or no-lead fuel.

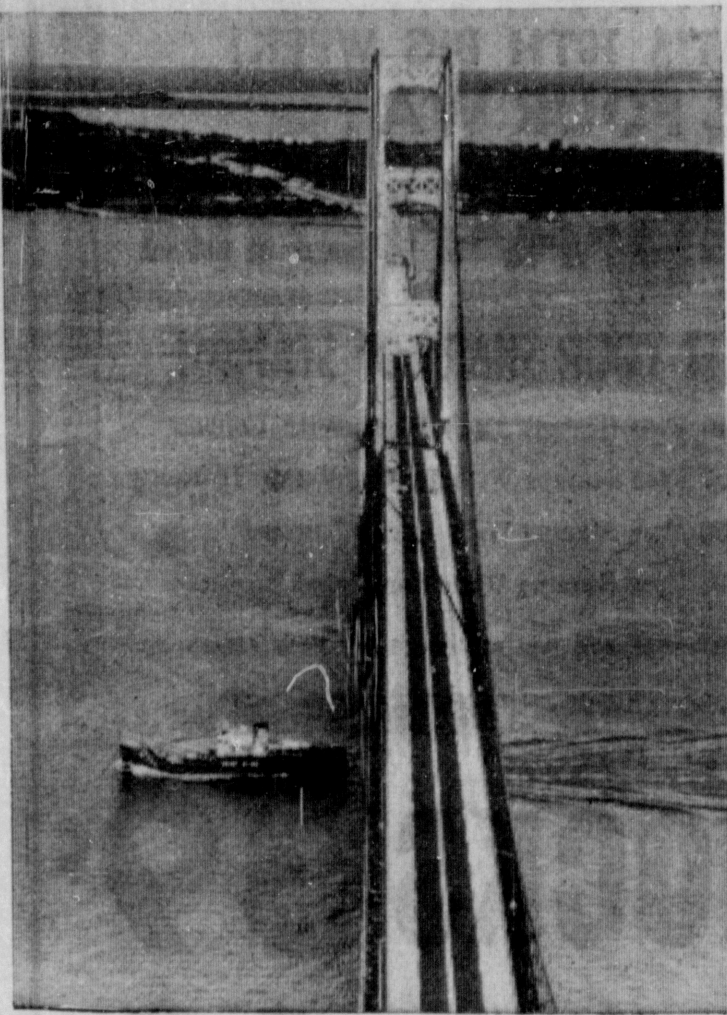

2 Firebird Esprit. Our 1971 Firebird Esprit will be making a few new waves. It couples the handling of a sports car with the smooth ride of a big car. Molded foam front seats. A new process we discovered. They won't lump. So they stay comfortable for the life of the car. Front disc brakes and more. A dent-resistant Endura front end. Long-wearing, bias-belted tires. A 350-cubic-inch V-8 (low-lead or no-lead fuel). Knit vinyl upholstery. All standard.

3 GTO. Legendary. But we made it better. In honor of our enthusiast fans. New scoops that really scoop. Order them functional with a new 455-CID H.O. V-8. Which is also very efficient on the new no-lead or low-lead gasoline. Lower exhaust emissions. Plus longer life for spark plugs, exhaust system and other engine components. If no- or low-lead gas isn't available, use any leaded regular-grade gas with a research octane number of at least 91. The new Endura front end fights back. It looks like painted sheet metal but isn't. Much tougher. It resists dings, dents, chips. Won't rust. The power train's tough, too. 400-CID V-8. Dual exhausts. A Hurst-shifted 3-speed transmission (order a 4-speed if you prefer).

4 Grand Prix. Until now, no new car ever started out a classic. The look of a classic. An all-new front end. Classic. A sensational new sculptured rear end. Equally so. A new cockpit interior that puts every new control and gauge at fingertip command. There's more to a classic than aging. It has to move. Grand Prix has a 400-cubic-inch V-8. Power brakes, front discs. Variable-ratio power steering. An available 455 V-8. Grand Prix moves. A new maintenance-free battery. It never needs water. And it holds a higher power reserve throughout its life. Standard on Grand Prix "BJ" model.

Northgate Exploration felt much the same way when it was listed Feb. 3. Said A. Garfield Hayes, vice president, "The listing reflected the fact that 60 per cent of our shareholders are U.S. citizens."

Norlin Corp., a June 1 entrant, was concerned with maintaining a market for its stock—with keeping its shares available for buying and selling.

Said George H. Strong, vice president: "An exchange listing is like a good bond rating. It improves the marketability of the company's shares by providing shareholders with greater liquidity."

Another reason, which is common among American-based corporations, might be the potential advantage offered by a Big Board listing in merger and acquisition discussions.

The price of a company's shares on the exchange is often the basis for the beginning of merger negotiations.

Michigan Driver Penalties Climb

LANSING (AP) — Michigan drivers are being penalized at a record rate, reports Secretary of State James Hare. Hare said through the first two-thirds of this year more than 116,000 motorists have been subject to various types of penalties, up more than 40,000 from the same period last year. Hare added he believes many motorists who have been suspended are flouting the law by still driving.

To this day, a bridegroom marches down the aisle with his wife on his left, presumably so his sword arm will be ready to fend off thwarted suitors.

RED OWL

For 1971, Pontiac announces the best selection of automobiles...since automobiles.

1. The First Grand Ville. A completely new Pontiac that never existed before. A luxury car with a sensible price. The most luxurious Pontiac ever. The softest seats. The richest upholstery. The most distinctive appointments. More head room. More shoulder room. As much rear-seat leg room in the 2-door hardtop as in most 4-doors. Twice the money won't buy a smoother, quieter ride. Compare for yourself. It starts with a wider Wide-Track. A new suspension. And some new ways to marry body to chassis. Sensational. Even response is luxurious. The steering is variable-ratio power. The brakes are power with front discs. The power is a 455-cubic-inch V-8 that performs on low-lead or no-lead fuel.

2. Firebird Esprit. Our 1971 Firebird Esprit will be making a few new waves. It couples the handling of a sports car with the smooth ride of a big car. Molded foam front seats. A new process we discovered. They won't lump. So they stay comfortable for the life of the car. Front disc brakes and more. A dent-resistant Endura front end. Long-wearing, bias-belted tires. A 350-cubic-inch V-8 (low-lead or no-lead fuel). Knit vinyl upholstery. All standard.

3. GTO. Legendary. But we made it better. In honor of our enthusiast fans. New scoops that really scoop. Order them functional with a new 455-CID H.O. V-8. Which is also very efficient on the new no-lead or low-lead gasolines. Lower exhaust emissions. Plus longer life for spark plugs, exhaust system and other engine components. If no- or low-lead gas isn't available, use any leaded regular-grade gas with a research octane number of at least 91. The new Endura front end fights back. It looks like painted sheet metal but isn't. Much tougher. It resists dings, dents, chips. Won't rust. The power train's tough, too. 400-CID V-8. Dual exhausts. A Hurst-shifted 3-speed transmission (order a 4-speed if you prefer).

4. Grand Prix. Until now, no new car ever started out a classic. The look of a classic. An all-new front end. Classic. A sensational new sculptured rear end. Equally so. A new cockpit interior that puts every new control and gauge at fingertip command. There's more to a classic than ogling. It has to move. Grand Prix has a 400-cubic-inch V-8. Power brakes, front discs. Variable-ratio power steering. An available 455 V-8. Grand Prix moves. A new maintenance-free battery. It never needs water. And it holds a higher power reserve throughout its life. Standard on Grand Prix "SJ" model.

Handling Mideast Plans Right Up Cisco's Alley

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — At least any Saturday around 9 a.m. Joe Sisco can be found between the frozen foods and the fresh vegetables in a supermarket.

It's not the usual place to look for the government's top Middle East expert, but Joe Sisco's imagination, energy and indifference to formality frequently propel him down unusual aisles.

Last April in an effort to save something from the collapse of earlier Middle East peacemaking attempts, Sisco made an extraordinary tour of the hostile capitals. As assistant secretary of state for Near East and South Asian affairs he renewed high level U.S. contact in Cairo with a call on President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

When Nasser told him the United States was so pro-Israel it couldn't possibly be fair to Egypt in any kind of go-between role, Sisco said: "Test us."

Nasser evidently was impressed, and Sisco's undiplomatic "test us" undoubtedly helped produce Cairo's August acceptance of a U.S. plan for Egypt and Israel to stop shooting and start talking.

Not Government Expert

When asked recently whether he is the State Department's foremost expert on the Middle East, Sisco waved off the implied compliment. "No," he said, "it's not that way. What I know is the policy. I probably know more about that than anyone else here. I've been involved in it for 20 years."

This accumulated experience is responsible for his unusual record of successive service under Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon.

Only a few senior diplomats are asked to serve presidents of different parties in the high policy positions Sisco has held.

Began Career In 1951

Sisco, who will be 51 next month, joined the State Department in 1951 and almost immediately began working on Middle Eastern problems.

Four years later he joined the Foreign Service and in 1965 was named assistant secretary for international organization affairs.

When William Rogers succeeded Dean Rusk as secretary of state, he knew the Arab-Israeli conflict would be a major concern and he wanted an experienced man on the job. Still, Sisco was caught by surprise when asked to stay on.

Expecting normal acceptance of his resignation by the incoming president, Sisco had decided to go into some other activity, possibly politics.

However, he had known Rogers liked him and he decided to stay on when the new secretary offered him his present position.

"The Middle East appealed to me," Sisco recalls.

He knew what he was getting into in assuming responsibility for operations and the development of U.S. policy for one of the great crisis regions of the world. But Sisco has been through many international crunches.

Prepared Papers

During the 1962 Cuban missile crisis he helped prepare many of the State Department papers which went to President Kennedy.

In previous crises he's worked on the simultaneous 1956 Suez and Hungarian situations, the East-West struggle over the Congo and the U.S. intervention in Lebanon in 1958.

Like many officials Sisco finds the energy for dealing with crisis in the challenge and excitement of the situations themselves.

In a crisis, he explained, "You build up a plateau of excitement and maintain it. You eat more and sleep less, but you burn up more energy so you don't gain weight. You exercise as you can."

Enjoys Golf

He enjoys golf but has played very little in recent years. Tennis is his more frequent game and he was a varsity player in college. He also played Big Ten basketball at the University of Chicago.

"I'm responsible in part for the death knell of Big Ten basketball in Chicago," he said. "Our record was 0-12."

A more regular activity has been Sisco's shopping expeditions. Carried out quietly for years, they were discovered mainly because an acquaintance saw him loading a market cart with groceries.

"I start every Saturday morning around 9 o'clock," he explained. "It takes me just an hour and I still have time to get into my office about 10:15."

Likes Shopping

"I enjoy the shopping and I'll tell you why. It's relaxing. It's planning of a different kind. Anyway, it's something I started doing when my wife and I were in graduate school at the University of Chicago. And my wife says I'm a better shopper than she is."

When the latest Middle East crisis slackened, Sisco, still looking a little tight-eyed from lack of sleep, was asked if he still likes his job.

"I love it," he said.

Responsibility

LANSING (AP) — When a person is committed to a state mental hospital, the county in which he lives at the time of admission is responsible for the cost of the first year's care.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley issued that opinion Friday, responding to an inquiry from R. Bernard Houston, state director of social services. Clarification was sought for cases in which a change of residence takes place between the date of commitment and the date of admission.

Levin Against Parochial, Amendment

DETROIT (AP) — State Sen. Sander Levin, Democratic candidate for governor, said today although he is opposed to parochialism, he has decided not to support a proposed constitutional amendment prohibiting all public aid to nonpublic schools.

"The proposed amendment would not only prohibit parochialism," Levin told newsmen, "it would also prohibit most auxiliary services at nonpublic schools. The auxiliary services program has been operating for three years with a minimum of objection."

Levin said he also favored permitting shared - time programs that allow nonpublic school students to be taught some classes in public schools.

"I have long believed this to be an appropriate answer to the fiscal pressures that exist for some nonpublic schools," he explained.

Levin said the amendment as written could eliminate shared time, because it prohibits use of public money to support the attendance of a nonpublic student at "any location or institution, where instruction is offered in whole or in part to ... nonpublic students."

Under some shared - time programs, Levin said, a public school may very well fit that description.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices continued to drift lower today in moderately active trading.

By noon the Dow Jones average, which had declined steadily since the opening, was down 5.95 to 755.82.

On the New York Stock Exchange declines widened their lead over advances to just less than 3 to 2.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .1 to 257.2. Industrials were lower, rails higher, and utilities, unchanged.

Analysts said that prices were being forced lower by profit taking on the gains of last week.

One hopeful factor in today's decline, they noted was that as prices declined, volume slackened. Though trading was moderately active today, it ran far behind Friday's frenzied pace.

The basic atmosphere of the market, brokers said, was still positive, and that the rally started last week has further to go. The current retreat, they said, was only a breath-catching pause.

Brokers said that many small investors seemed to have taken to the sidelines and that institutional investors seemed to be carrying the ball. The New York Stock exchange reported 13 block trades of 10,000 shares or more during the morning.

Analysts said that the mutual funds were readjusting their portfolios prior to the end of the third quarter.

Analysts also cited the August decline in the government's index of leading economic indicators. This reverses July's rise.

Most industry groups were mixed. Tobaccos, chemicals, metals, motors, and steels were generally lower. Utilities were generally higher.

Explosion Rips Jewish Center

CHICAGO (AP) — A metal-encased bomb was thrown through the window of a North Side Jewish community center early today and blasted a hole in one wall, police said.

Nobody was injured although six persons were in the building at the time of the explosion.

The director of the Bernard Horwich Center where the bomb was tossed said damage was about $500. He said the janitor received a telephone bomb threat shortly after midnight.

The center was the target of a bomb threat last June, but no explosive device materialized then, police said.

Tranquilizer Use In Schools Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The growing use of tranquilizers to quiet overactive school children comes under scrutiny this week by a congressional panel concerned the drugs may suppress classroom creativity.

With one federal health official estimating as many as 300,000 children may be receiving tranquilizers, Rep. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., has scheduled hearings starting Tuesday into the situation.

"Before this grows into the millions, I think we ought to have a look at it," Gallagher said. He heads the House privacy subcommittee holding the hearings.

Gallagher's concern is with

John Dos Passos, Noted American Author, 74, Dies

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—John Dos Passos, noted American author of the Trilogy "U. S. A." and more than 30 other books, died this morning at his apartment at the age of 74.

He had been troubled by a heart condition for several years, according to a friend, and had been released only Saturday from Good Samaritan Hospital.

He and his wife, Elizabeth, had divided their time for several years between the Baltimore apartment and a home in Westmoreland, Va.

"U. S. A." was written in a highly original style and formed a literary documentary of the early decades of this century. In the work, Dos Passos took the side of labor struggles and liberal goals.

As he grew older, his views changed. "Midcentury," a novel published in 1961, portrayed labor leaders and liberals in a less favorable light. By 1964, Dos Passos was endorsing Barry Goldwater's Republican candidacy for President.

McIntire Says GOP Pressured Ky About Rally

PARIS (AP) — The Rev. Carl McIntire, sponsor of a win-the-war rally in Washington, says the Nixon administration pressured Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam not to attend the event.

"The power of the United States has been used against him," said McIntire, who came to Paris to try to persuade Ky to reconsider his decision not to appear Oct. 3 at the "March for Victory."

"He was very resolute when I last saw him in Saigon," McIntire said Sunday. "He was very firm about the need for U.S. assistance to win over communism in Vietnam. Now he is a different man. He has been broken. I don't blame him. I blame the administration."

Ky has said his presence at the rally "would not achieve the desired effect" and that there was a risk of violence between the demonstrators and antiwar militants.

Briefly Told

A Democratic Party rally will be held at the Powers Legion Hall Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. The rally is sponsored by the Menominee County Democratic Club.

A meeting for all parents interested in continuing the Cub Scout program in Wells, will be held at 7 p. m. today at the Wells Township Hall. All den mothers and fathers are urged to attend. Scouts are not to attend.

The Delta County Democratic Executive Committee will meet Tuesday at 4 p. m. at party headquarters, 810 Ludington St., to make plans for the party's "Open House" at the headquarters office.

Escanaba police are investigating the theft of a 20-foot outboard motorboat owned by Darrell DeRouin of 1218 N. 18th St., which was taken from the Escanaba yacht basin. The boat was found damaged on the lower Escanaba River. Some of the equipment had been thrown overboard.

amphetamine-class drugs prescribed by doctors for such disorders as hyperkinesia—The problem-child syndrome.

But, says Gallagher, there may be a real question as to whether bright, creative youngsters are being drugged to mask natural restlessness in boring classrooms.

CIBA Pharmaceutical Co., which manufactures one of the drugs, gives these symptoms for hyperkinesia, or minimal brain dysfunction:

"He seems in perpetual motion. In constant, purposeless activity. He's aggressive, destructive. Easily frustrated. Can't concentrate. He's bright, yet does poorly in school. He wants friends, yet companions shun him. His behavior makes him nearly unbearable to parents, teachers and playmates."

Gallagher has been investigating the problem informally for four months, since reports surfaced that 3,000 to 6,000 school children in Omaha, Neb., were being given drugs.

Besides the question of bright youngsters being drugged, Gallagher poses some others:

—What happens when such drug use goes on a child's record? Will he be marked for life as needing tranquilizers to function in society?

—What happens when a child who has been given these amphetamine-class drugs—the kind young people call speed—is warned against their use as a pleasurable mind stimulant. Will he believe it? Gallagher says he is also concerned about the safety of the drugs used. CIBA, in its literature on Ritalin, warns against giving the drug to emotionally unstable patients.

the meeting that the United States is committed to a strong NATO.

He said Nixon praised Saragat for Italy's efforts toward social reforms and stated, "This is one of the ways for Italy to contribute to the strength of the alliance and defense of the Mediterranean."

Two Cars Burned

Two cars were burned in Verona and two at the NATO base in the Naples suburb of Bagnoli, which Nixon is scheduled to visit Wednesday after spending a day with the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean.

The attacks on the cars followed a night of hit-and-run battles between police and roaming bands of leftist youths in Rome.

Nixon and Saragat held a private meeting Sunday night after a welcoming ceremony in which the President vowed that U.S. military strength in the Mediterranean would be kept at levels "to preserve the peace against those who might threaten the peace."

Colombo Meet Set

After his visit with Saragat, Nixon took a helicopter flight across town to the tree-shaded Villa Madama, a Renaissance government palace where he met with Colombo, a Christian Democrat. With Colombo representing the center-left government was Socialist Deputy Premier Francesco de Martino.

Later, Nixon was to meet with Pope Paul VI in a private audience, then take another helicopter trip to the U.S. carrier Saratoga in the Mediterranean for an overnight visit.

CG Ends Search On Lake Michigan

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Coast Guard said here Sunday that three boats, a helicopter and an airplane spent the night searching Lake Michigan for a cabin cruiser that was reported sinking with four persons aboard.

The Coast Guard said it received the report at its Grand Haven, Mich., station early Saturday evening and dispatched units to the scene.

An active search for the craft was suspended early Sunday after the Coast Guard did not find anything in its search and marinas and harbors did not report anyone overdue or missing.

3 More School Strikes End

Striking teachers in Highland Park, Alpena and Cheboygan returned to classes today following agreement on new, two-year contracts in both districts over the weekend.

The Highland Park teachers reached agreement Sunday on a new pact calling for salaries ranging from $8,125 to $16,500, compared with a previous range of $7,500 to $14,200.

In Cheboygan, teachers ratified a pact raising salaries by $400 yearly and providing for payment by the school district of 50 per cent of hospitalization costs in the first year and 100 per cent in the second year.

In Macomb County, meanwhile, a circuit court judge Saturday ordered 430 striking Warren Woods teachers back to work. They were to return to classes today.

The settlements left schools in three other Michigan districts still closed by strikes.

Tentative agreement settling a three week strike in Alpena's schools was reached early this morning by negotiating teams. Teachers and school administrators will meet today to vote on ratification of the agreement.

In Inkster, teachers voted 2-1 Sunday to reject the latest school board contract proposal. Supt. Edward Fort warned that if agreement was not reached by today he would take "legal remedies."

Mrs. E. Holmes, Former Resident Dies In Detroit

Mrs. Exima Holmes, 95, of 10434 E. Outer Drive, Detroit, formerly of Escanaba, died Sunday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Detroit.

She was born June 20, 1875 in Ontario and her husband William Holmes preceded her in death. She is survived by one niece, Mrs. John Cavanaugh of Detroit.

Visitation will be held today at the R. G. and G. R. Harris Funeral Home in Detroit and funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m., Tuesday at St. Juliana Church in Detroit.

The body will be removed to Escanaba on Wednesday and committal services will be held at 2 p. m., Wednesday at Holy Cross Cemetery with the Rev. Fabian Gerstle officiating. Allo Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

CAUGHT IN DRAFT — Sgt. Charles Hopkins, 15-year career soldier, holds up the notice he received in Houston, Tex., from his hometown draft board in Fort Wayne, Ind. The board wants to know where he is and if he is eligible for the draft. "I joined the Army before I was old enough to register," said Hopkins, now 33 years old.

Jimi Hendrix Died Of Suffocation, Coroner Claims

LONDON (AP) — A London coroner returned an open verdict today on Jimi Hendrix after a pathologist testified the American pop singer died of suffocation.

The coroner said there was insufficient evidence to suggest Hendrix had taken his own life. The coroner's court heard medical testimony the singer had taken nine times the normal dose of sleeping tablets.

The verdict meant the court was unable to decide the exact reason for Hendrix's death in London 10 days ago.

Pathologist Prof. Donald Teare said Hendrix, 27, part Cherokee and part Negro, died through swallowing vomit caused by barbiturate poisoning. He said there was no evidence the singer was a drug addict.

A police witness described finding a packet of sleeping tablets and a single sleeping pill in Hendrix' bedroom.

The singer left no note, he added.

$15,000 Damage

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Fire swept the Decorative Arts Center on Grand Rapids' Southeast Sunday night, causing damage estimated at $15,000. Cause of the blaze was not determined immediately. No injuries were reported.

Police Slayer Suspect Caught

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — William A. Gilday, 41, sought in the holdup-slaying of a Boston police officer, was arrested today after a chase of about a hundred miles.

Gilday was pursued in a station wagon in which he held two hostages at gunpoint. Police said the hostages were unharmed.

Gilday was reported captured on state Route 122 near the junction with the Massachusetts Turnpike just south of Worcester. Gilday was believed armed with a revolver, rifle and shotgun. It was not determined immediately if any shots were fired in the chase and capture.

Police fired at least 30 rounds at Gilday last Friday in a wild chase and gun battle in which Gilday slightly wounded a Lowell police officer, grazing his forehead with a bullet fired from a speeding car.

Gilday was arrested shortly after funeral services were completed for Boston Patrolman Walter A. Schroeder, 41, the father of nine who was killed Wednesday when responding to an alarm of a bank hold-up.

One man was arrested last week in connection with the slaying-holdup, which police have linked to a radical campus group, a charge disputed by an area college president.

A third suspect, Stanley R. Bond, was arrested Sunday at Grand Junction, Colo., when he attempted to take an airliner to Denver. FBI agents there said Bond was armed when arrested.

Two other suspects—both young women—are sought in connection with the holdup-slaying.

Patrolman Slain, Partner Wounded On City Street

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two men in a car stopped for speeding early today on the East Side, stepped out of their car and opened fire on two policemen, killing one and seriously wounding the other, police said.

Killed was Patrolman Joseph Tracz, 27, who was shot in the back of the head, back of the neck, in the back and in a leg.

In serious condition at Mount Sinai Hospital with mouth, chest and abdominal wounds was Patrolman Fred Fulton.

Inspector Patrick Gerity said Tracz apparently had been shot while lying on the ground.

Police took six persons into custody, but Gerity said it was not known if the assailants were among the six. He said a search for suspects was continuing.

NLRB Hearing, Elections Are Set

The National Labor Relations Board has scheduled a hearing and an election for establishments in Stephenson, Escanaba and Gladstone, it is announced today.

Hearing is set at 10 a. m. Oct. 6 in Escanaba for Montgomery Ward Co.; at 10:30 a. m. Oct. 8 in Stephenson and in Gladstone at 1:30 p. m. for an election at Habitat Shops, Inc.

Detailed reports on the Kent State-Jackson State killings will be issued later this week.

gia student: "If the commission's recommendations are followed the situation could improve appreciably."

From Clark Kerr, the former president of the University of California and now chairman of the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education: "I think it's easily the best report on the subject that's been made ..."

With President Nixon in Europe there was no comment on the report from the White House. Similarly Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, an implied target of some commission criticism, said he had yet to give the panel's finding a close reading and would not react until he had done so.

President Listening

But there were indications from both panel members and some Nixon administration officials that the President has been listening.

Scranton said Sunday "I think there is quite a change already this summer in the wording and rhetoric that has come out of some of the high officials in the government."

The former Pennsylvania politician who once aspired to the White House himself, said he is certain Nixon will follow the commission's plea for greater White House leadership.

War Action Chied

In addition to the need for a greater presidential moral and leadership role, the commission made these findings:

—"Nothing is more important than an end to the war in Indochina."

—Any persons engaging in student violence should be quickly removed from the campus and prosecuted.

—Faculty members who encouraged violence by students and other young people should be removed.

—There can be no tolerance of abuse of power by authority. "Too many law enforcement officers have responded with unwarranted harshness and force in seeking to control disorder ..."

—Law enforcement officers have too often reacted ineptly or overreacted. At times, their response has degenerated into uncontrolled violence."

Killings Not Justified

This point came up Sunday, the day after the report was issued, when two panel members said the killings of students last year at Kent State University in Ohio and Jackson State College in Mississippi were without justification.

Harvard University junior Joseph Rhodes Jr., and New Haven, Conn., police Chief James Ahern said the commission said there was no sufficient provocation on either campus to use deadly force.

Rhodes said there was "a remarkable, incredible lack of concern for human life of black people" at the mostly Negro Mississippi school.

Rhodes and Ahern, as well as Scranton, appeared on the NBC program "Meet the Press."

Detailed reports on the Kent State-Jackson State killings will be issued later this week.

Hue Attacked By Red Rockets

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong rockets dropped on Hue, Vietnam's old imperial capital, for the first time in almost two months as the enemy tried to thwart the Saigon government's pacification program in five locations, a military spokesman said today.

The U.S. Command reported few attacks on Americans during the weekend, but five helicopters were lost at a cost of eight dead, two missing and four injured. One of the choppers, an Air Force UH1, crashed in Cambodia because of an operational failure, the first helicopter lost over Cambodia since American troops withdrew June 30.

One of three rockets that hit Hue struck a military hospital but caused no casualties, the spokesman said. Only light damage was reported.

South Vietnamese casualties were listed as 11 killed and 40 wounded in the other four attacks, two of them within 15 miles of Saigon.

The U.S. Command did not disclose the mission of the helicopter that crashed in Mondul-kiri Province in northeastern Cambodia, taking two American lives and wounding two GIs. But sources said the craft carried only defensive weapons and indicated it was on a low-level observation mission.

It was the first disclosure that the United States is using helicopters to fly reconnaissance missions over Cambodia. Sources outside the command said some of the helicopters are equipped with electronic sensors.

CW Transport Guards Capital; Omits Dividend

WISCONSIN RAPIDS — CW Transport, Inc., stockholders were told at their annual meeting here that no cash dividend would be paid at the end of this year.

"We omitted our regular 15 cent dividend in June to conserve working capital and will do so again for the period ending Dec. 30, 1970," Arthur W. Clark, president, said.

Clark explained the trucking company's recent dividend action which calls for the payment of one share of Ryder Systems, Inc., common stock for each 70 shares of CW Transport common.

"The dividend of Ryder stock amounts to approximately the same value as the cash dividend for three quarters," he said. CW Transport acquired 60,000 shares of Ryder stock in 1968 in exchange for its interest in Central Leasing & Services, Inc. The dividend is payable Oct. 15 to shareholders of record Sept. 30.

orthodox elements of society can lead only to more campus violence.

To head this off, the commission said in conclusion, there must be a move toward ending the Vietnam war, toward racial and social equality and an easing of the accusatory voices in the nation.

Levin Against Parochialism, Amendment

DETROIT (AP) — State Sen. Levin, Democratic candidate for governor, said today although he is opposed to parochialism, he has decided not to support a proposed constitutional amendment prohibiting all public aid to nonpublic schools.

"The proposed amendment would not only prohibit parochialism," Levin told newsmen, "it would also prohibit most auxiliary services at nonpublic schools. The auxiliary services program has been operating for three years with a minimum of objection."

Levin said he also favored permitting shared - time programs that allow nonpublic school students to be taught some classes in public schools.

"I have long believed this to be an appropriate answer to the fiscal pressures that exist for some nonpublic schools," he explained.

Under some shared - time programs, Levin said, a public school may very well fit that description.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices continued to drift lower today in moderately active trading.

By noon the Dow Jones average, which had declined steadily since the opening, was down 5.58 to 755.82.

On the New York Stock Exchange declines widened their lead over advances to just less than 3 to 2.

The Associated Press 50-stock average was up 1.1 to 297.2. Industrials were lower, rails higher, and utilities unchanged.

Analysts said that prices were being forced lower by profit taking on the gains of last week.

One hopeful factor in today's decline, they noted, was that as prices declined, volume slackened. Though trading was moderately active today, it ran far behind Friday's frenzied pace.

The high atmosphere of the market, brokers said, was still positive, and that the rally started last week has further to go. The current retreat, they said, was only a breath-catching pause.

Brokers said that many small investors seemed to have taken to the sidelines and that institutional investors seemed to be carrying the ball. The New York Stock Exchange reported 13 block trades of 10,000 shares or more during the morning.

Analysts said that the mutual funds were readjusting their portfolios prior to the end of the third quarter.

Analysis also cited the August decline in the government's index of leading economic indicators. This reverses July's rise.

Most industry groups were mixed. Tobacco, chemicals, metals, motors, and steels were generally lower. Utilities were generally higher.

Explosion Rips Jewish Center

CHICAGO (AP) — A metal-encased bomb was thrown through the window of a North Side Jewish community center early today and blasted a hole in one wall, police said.

Nobody was injured although six persons were in the building at the time of the explosion.

The director of the Bernard Horwich Center where the bomb was tossed said damage was about $500. He said the janitor received a telephoned bomb threat shortly after midnight.

The center was the target of a bomb threat last June, but no explosive device materialized then, police said.

Tranquilizer Use In Schools Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The growing use of tranquilizers to quiet overactive school children comes under scrutiny this week by a congressional panel concerned the drugs may suppress classroom creativity.

With one federal health official estimating as many as 300,000 children may be receiving tranquilizers, Rep. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., has scheduled hearings starting Tuesday into the situation.

"Before this grows into the millions, I think we ought to have a look at it," Gallagher said. He heads the House privacy subcommittee holding the hearings.

Gallagher's concern is with

John Dos Passos, Noted American Author, 74, Dies

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — John Dos Passos, noted American author of the Trilogy "U. S. A." and more than 30 other books, died this morning at his apartment at the age of 74.

He had been troubled by a heart condition for several years, according to a friend, and had been released only Saturday from Good Samaritan Hospital.

He and his wife, Elizabeth, had divided their time for several years between the Baltimore apartment and a home in Westmoreland, Va.

"U. S. A." was written in a highly original style and formed a literary documentary of the early decades of this century. In the work, Dos Passos took the side of labor struggles and liberal goals.

As he grew older, his views changed. "Midcentury," a novel published in 1961, portrayed labor leaders and liberals in a less favorable light. By 1964, Dos Passos was endorsing Barry Goldwater's Republican candidacy for President.

McIntire Says GOP Pressured Ky About Rally

PARIS (AP) — The Rev. Carl McIntire, sponsor of a win-the-war rally in Washington, says the Nixon administration pressured Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam not to attend the event.

"The power of the United States has been used against him," said McIntire, who came to Paris to try to persuade Ky to reconsider his decision not to appear Oct. 3 at the "March for Victory."

"He was very resolute when I last saw him in Saigon," McIntire said Sunday. "He was very firm about the need for U.S. assistance to win over communism in Vietnam. Now he is a different man. He has been broken. I don't blame him. I blame the administration."

Ky has said his presence at the rally "would not achieve the desired effect" and that there was a risk of violence between the demonstrators and antiwar militants.

3 More School Strikes End

Striking teachers in Highland Park, Alpena and Cheboygan returned to classes today following agreements on new, two-year contracts in both districts over the weekend.

The Highland Park teachers reached agreement Sunday on a new pact calling for salaries ranging from $6,135 to $16,800, compared with a previous range of $7,500 to $14,500.

In Cheboygan, teachers ratified a pact raising salaries by $400 yearly and providing for payment by the school district of 30 per cent of hospitalization costs in the first year and 100 per cent in the second year.

In Macomb County, meanwhile, a circuit court judge Saturday ordered 430 striking Warren Woods teachers back to work. They were to return to classes today.

The settlements left schools in three other Michigan districts still closed by strikes.

Tentative agreement settling a three week strike in Alpena's schools was reached early this morning by negotiating teams. Teachers and school administrators will meet today to vote on ratification of the agreement.

In Inkster, teachers voted 2-1 Sunday to reject the latest school board contract proposal. Supt. Edward Fort warned that if agreement was not reached by what he would take "legal remedies."

After his visit with Saragat, Nixon took a helicopter flight across town to the tree-shaded Villa Madama, a Renaissance government palace where he met with Colombo, a Christian Democrat. With Colombo representing the center-left government was Socialist Deputy Premier Francesco de Martino.

Later, Nixon was to meet with Pope Paul VI in a private audience, then take another helicopter trip to the U.S. carrier Saratoga in the Mediterranean for an overnight visit.

CG Ends Search On Lake Michigan

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Coast Guard said here Sunday that three boats, a helicopter and an airplane spent the night searching Lake Michigan for a cabin cruiser that was reported sinking with four persons aboard.

The Coast Guard said it received the report at its Grand Haven, Mich., station early Saturday evening and dispatched units to the scene.

An active search for the craft was suspended early Sunday after the Coast Guard did not find anything in its search and mariners and harbors did not report anyone overdue or missing.

CAUGHT IN DRAFT — Sgt. Charles Hopkins, 15-year career soldier, holds up the notice he received in Houston, Tex., from his hometown draft board in Fort Wayne, Ind. The board wants to know where he is and if he is eligible for the draft. "I joined the Army before I was old enough to register," said Hopkins, now 33 years old.

One man was arrested last week in connection with the slaying-holdup, which police have linked to a radical campus group, a charge disputed by an area college president.

A third suspect, Stanley R. Bond, was arrested Sunday at Grand Junction, Colo., when he attempted to take an airliner to Denver. FBI agents there said Bond was armed when arrested.

Two other suspects—both young women—are sought in connection with the holdup-slaying.

Patrolman Slain, Partner Wounded On City Street

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two men in a car stopped for speeding early today on the East Side, stepped out of their car and opened fire on two policemen, killing one and seriously wounding the other, police said.

Killed was Patrolman Joseph Tracz, 27, who was shot in the back of the head, back of the neck, in the back and in a leg.

In serious condition at Mount Sinai Hospital with mouth, chest and abdominal wounds was Patrolman Fred Fulton.

Inspector Patrick Gerity said Tracz apparently had been shot while lying on the ground.

Police took six persons into custody, but Gerity said it was not known if the assailants were among the six. He said a search for suspects was continuing.

$15,000 Damage

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Fire swept the Democratic Arts Center on Grand Rapids' Southeast Sunday night, causing damage estimated at $15,000. Cause of the blaze was not determined immediately. No injuries were reported.

Police Slayer Suspect Caught

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — William A. Gilday, 41, sought in the holdup-slaying of a Boston police officer, was arrested today after a chase of about a hundred miles.

Gilday was pursued in a station wagon in which he held two hostages at gunpoint. Police said the hostages were unharmed.

Gilday was reported captured on state Route 122 near the junction with the Massachusetts Turnpike, just south of Worcester. Gilday was believed armed with a revolver, rifle and shotgun. It was not determined immediately if any shots were fired in the chase and capture.

Police fired at least 30 rounds at Gilday last Friday in a wild chase and gun battle in which Gilday slightly wounded a Lowell police officer, grazing his forehead with a bullet fired from a speeding car.

Gilday was arrested shortly after funeral services were completed for Boston Patrolman Walter A. Schroeder, 41, the father of nine who was killed Wednesday when responding to an alarm of a bank hold-up.

One man was arrested last week in connection with the slaying-holdup, which police have linked to a radical campus group, a charge disputed by an area college president.

A third suspect, Stanley R. Bond, was arrested Sunday at Grand Junction, Colo., when he attempted to take an airliner to Denver. FBI agents there said Bond was armed when arrested.

gia student: "If the commission's recommendations are followed the situation could improve appreciably."

From Clark Kerr, the former president of the University of California and now chairman of the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education: "I think it's easily the best report on the subject that's been made..."

With President Nixon in Europe there was no comment on the report from the White House. Similarly Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, an implied target of some commission criticism, said he had yet to give the panel's findings a close reading and would not react until he had done so.

President Listening

But there were indications from both panel members and some Nixon administration officials that the President has been listening.

Scranton said Sunday "I think there is quite a change already this summer in the writing and rhetoric that has come out of some of the high officials in the government."

The former Pennsylvania politician who once inspired to the White House himself, said he is certain Nixon will follow the commission's plan for greater White House leadership.

War Action Closed

In addition to the need for a greater presidential moral and leadership role, the commission made these findings:

"Nothing is more important than an end to the war in Indochina."

"Any persons engaging in student violence should be quickly removed from the campus and prosecuted."

"Faculty members who encouraged violence by students and other young people should be removed."

"There can be no tolerance of abuse of power by authority."

"Too many law enforcement officers have responded with unwarranted harshness and force in seeking to control disorder."

"Law enforcement officers have too often reacted impetuously or overreacted. At times, their response has degenerated into uncontrolled violence."

Kennedy Not Justified

This point came up Sunday, the day after the report was issued, when two panel members said the killings of students last year at Kent State University in Ohio and Jackson State College in Mississippi were without justification.

Harvard University junior Joseph Rhodes Jr., and New Haven, Conn., police Chief James Ahern said the commission said there was no sufficient provocation on either campus to use deadly force.

Rhodes said there was "a remarkable, incredible lack of concern for human life of black people" at the mostly Negro Mississippi school.

Turquoise Gowns

They were attired in floor length gowns of turquoise crystal over satin styled with long, full sleeves with wide satin cuffs. Satin sashes with long back streamers defined the Empire waistlines. Headpieces of matching turquoise flat bows over gathered tulle netting completed their attire and they carried semi-cascades of white, yellow and pink daisies.

Lace Trim

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of chiffon over satin peau de soie accented with hand stitched Canise lace on satin overlays, fashioned with a high satin neckline, long sheer sleeves and a full length train.

A satin crown trimmed with Venice lace held her shoulder length bouffant veil and she carried a white bridal bouquet. The bride's gown was styled and sewn by her mother.

Serving as bestman was James Villeneuve of Escanaba and groomsmen were Thomas Barron of Rte. 1, Gladstone, James Berish of Dollar Bay and Al Gareau of Gladstone, Rte. 1. Seating the guests were Terry Barron, Richard LaFleur, Tim Legault and David Guay.

Knit Dress

Mrs. Barron wore for her daughter's wedding a peppermint pink A-line knit dress with matching accessories and she was presented a corsage of white mums and pink tea roses.

Mrs. LaFleur chose a gold metallic sheath dress with matching accessories and she pinned a corsage of gold mums.

Reception

The reception was held at Marco's Starlite Room and cousins of the bride couple assisted with duties. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Charles Hughes.

After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the couple will reside at Rte. 1, Escanaba, Box 201-A. The bride is a graduate of St. Norbert College, where she received a B.S. degree and was a member of Delta Zeta Sorority. Kappa Gamma Society Meets In Houghton

Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, a international society for women educators, was held Saturday at the Douglas House in Houghton. The meeting opened with a coffee hour followed by the business session with Catherine Harves of Marquette, presiding, in the absence of Mrs. Margaret Blomquist of Iron Mountain, president.

Luncheon was served at 12:30 p.m. followed by a talk by the Rev. Weidrick of Houghton. His topic was, "What Happens to the Campus Student Today?" Rev. Weidrick serves the Episcopal Church in Houghton and is also the campus minister at MTU.

He stated: "American education is one of the best even with its faults. Teachers must present materials and also themselves, teach children to be absolutely honest, have children express what they think, but they must check data to be sure they are correct in making judgments. Children must know history and heritage. Children today want problems solved too quickly. We must all accept the fact that we can make mistakes."

About 50 persons attended the meeting including the following from Escanaba: Eva Flemstrom, Marion Oliver, and Marie Jacobsen. The next meeting will be held in Escanaba on Oct. 31.

The suspension-type cars of the Shonan Monorail are the first of their kind to be used for public transportation in Japan. The cars travel above the track, straddling the rail. According to spokesmen for the Shonan Monorail Company, among the many advantages the suspension-type cars offer riders are greater comfort and safety.

Mrs. Barron wore for her daughter's wedding a proper pink A-line knit dress with matching accessories and she was presented a corsage of white mums and pink tea roses.

Mrs. LaFleur chose a gold metallic sheath dress with matching accessories and she planned a corsage of gold mums.

The reception was held at Marco's Banquet Room and cousins of the bride couple assisted with duties. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Charles Hughes.

After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the couple will reside at Rte. 1, Escanaba, Box 201-A. The bride is a graduate of St. Norbert College, where she received a B.S. degree and was a member of Delta Zeta Sorority. Mr. LaFleur spent four years with the U.S. Navy and is now employed by the Escanaba Paper Co.

Kappa Gamma Society Meets In Houghton

Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, an international society for women educators, was held Saturday at the Douglas House in Houghton. The meeting opened with a coffee hour followed by the business session with Catherine Harves of Marquette, presiding, in the absence of Mrs. Margaret Blomquist of Iron Mountain, president.

Luncheon was served at 12:30 p.m. followed by a talk by the Rev. Weidrick of Houghton. His topic was, "What Happens to the Campus Student Today?" Rev. Weidrick serves the Episcopal Church in Houghton and is also the campus minister at MTU.

He stated: "American education is one of the best even with its faults. Teachers must present materials and also themselves, teach children to be absolutely honest, have children express what they think, but they must check data to be sure they are correct in making judgments. Children must know history and heritage. Children today want problems solved too quickly. We must all accept the fact that we can make mistakes." About 50 persons attended the meeting including the following from Escanaba: Eva Flannstrom, Marion Oliver, and Marie Jacobson. The next meeting will be held in Escanaba on Oct. 31.

The suspension-type cars of the Shonan Monorail are the first of their kind to be used for public transportation in Japan. The cars travel above the track, straddling the rail. According to spokesmen for the Shonan Monorail Company, among the many advantages the suspension-type cars offer riders are greater comfort and safety.

Third Stringer Sparks U-M Comeback Victory

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Preston Henry may have a big head all week, but Michigan football coach Bo Schembechler probably has a hat to fit him.

The way Schembechler pulls running backs out of a hat he must have an awful big one.

Henry was his latest draw and the choice sparked Michigan to a 17-3 football victory over Washington at Seattle Saturday. The triumph came only after the Wolverines trailed 0-3 at the half and only after third-string tailback Henry pulled the splinters from his pants to rush for 113 yards and two touchdowns.

"It was my first game this year and the pressure didn't bother me at all," said the six-foot, 185-pound speedster from

Flint. "I just want to play."

It's amazing how second-year U-M coach Schembechler has come up with fine running backs when his team is on the spot. Last year everyone wondered how graduated All-American Ron Johnson could be replaced. That question was squelched when sophomore Glenn Doughty rushed for 500 yards in his first five games.

"Got Three Tailbacks"

When Doughty got injured in came sophomore Bill Taylor who finished the season the team's No. 1 rusher with 864 yards.

Taylor and Doughty started in the same backfield against Washington, but when Doughty bogged down Bo called on Lance Scheffler. Scheffler got hurt and it was Henry's turn.

"We've got three tailbacks and all three will play a lot," Schembechler said.

"Henry has looked good in practice all fall," he added. "I wasn't surprised at how well he did."

When Henry, a junior who originally started at wingback this fall, walked off the team's chartered plane at Metropolitan Airport after the triumph he was greeted by signs of praise and a flock of fans.

"Hey Preston!" a teammate yelled as the players filed off the plane.

"Don't talk to him," joked another. "His head's too big."

Michigan played a sluggish first half, although sensational Huskie soph quarterback Sonny Sixkiller was unable to engineer a touchdown drive.

But, with Henry churning away, the Wolverines came alive immediately in the third quarter by driving to the Husky 19 before Paul Staroba fumbled after catching a pass from Don Moorhead. The next time with the ball U-M tied the score 3-3 on a 39-yard field goal by Dana Coin five plays after a 22-yard burst by Henry.

The turning point came late in the quarter when Sixkiller failed twice to sneak one-yard for a first down at the Husky 49. Four plays later Henry ran eight yards for a touchdown on a Moorhead pichtout.

Henry's final TD was a 30-yard jaunt with 29 seconds left in the game.

Washington's score came on a 35-yard field goal by Steve Wiezbowski in the first quarter.

It was the second consecutive week Michigan defense failed to give up a touchdown. In the opener a week previous at Ann Arbor, Arizona managed three field goals in a 20-9 loss to U-M.

Spartans Find A Quarterback

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State has found a quarterback and the confidence needed to face the murderer's row of football coming up next — Notre Dame, Ohio State and Michigan.

The 28-14 win Saturday over Washington State should give the Spartans some spunk and spark to face this awesome threesome.

"But we sure won't be overconfident," admitted MSU coach Duffy Daugherty.

Mike Rasmussen, the cool and brainy left-handed thrower from Fresno, California, passed for three touchdowns and engineered a 97-yard march for another TD.

His star receiver was 151-pound Eric (The Flea) Allen, who caught throws for pass-run scores covering 18 and 24 yards. Gordon Bowdell took a 32-yarder in for a score with less than three minutes gone in the game to start the Spartans marching down the touchdown trail.

Henry Matthews was the big bull of the backfield going for 56 yards net rushing and threw himself in for the other touchdown from one yard out.

Allen also returned three punts 111 yards to thrill the Spartan Stadium crowd of 64,063 braving a chilly drizzle. Allen was given the game ball. For Spartan fans, it was particularly satisfactory that Rasmussen was trusted by the coaches to call 90 per cent of his own plays. He checked the Cougar defense at the line and shifted singles calling audibles according to the set-up spotted.

Rasmussen sparked with 15 pass completions in 27 tries for 226 yards net. He also was the second leading rusher with 49 yards, unusual for a quarterback.

Eight Interceptions

Daugherty's reshuffled young defense did its job well. The defense intercepted eight Washington State passes, a new team record topping six interceptions against Arizona in 1949.

Brad VanPelt, a sophomore Owosso, making his first start at safety, grabbed off three of the misdirected Washington State throws.

MSU fans had better start to learn how to spell and pronounce the name of Boris Shlapak, the soccer-style extra point kicker. He had a perfect 4-for-4 record.

Even seven fumbles lost didn't mar the day for MSU, as crisp Daugherty had some crisp comments on the subject.

"We must of missed five tds by mistakes," Daugherty complained. "Our backs were running hard, but a little reckless."

Akron Sloshes Past Northern

AKRON, Ohio — The University of Akron Zips rallied in the fourth quarter to defeat Northern Michigan 19-6 in the rain and mud before a water logged crowd of 14,747 Rubber Bowl fans Saturday night.

Northern nursed a 6-0 lead into the final period after scoring on a 14-yard pass from half-back Garry Scutt to end Mike Weigandt in the second quarter.

The Wildcat defense made the six points stand up with three brilliant goal line stands, stopping Akron once on the one-foot line, a second time at the two and a third time at the eight.

But a bad center snap on a Northern punt gave the ball to Akron on the NMU 24 late in the third period and the Zips turned it into the game-winning points early in the fourth quarter. Calvin Pierce scored on a fourth-and-3 play and John Harrison kicked the PTA to put Akron in front 7-6.

Northern, gambling late in the game, had a Marty Brenner pass intercepted deep in NMU territory by Joe Zwiler and four plays later, with 4:49 left, Pierce scored again on a fourth-and-1 play to make it 13-6.

Akron got an insurance touchdown less than a minute later after a Wildcat fourth down pass failed at the Northern 28. Wayne Savelensky went 28 yards for the tally on the next play.

Pirates Grab Eastern Title

By The Associated Press

Two short weeks ago, the National League's East Division championship was a prize catch nobody seemed willing, or able, to make.

Today, the Pittsburgh Pirates hold the prize in their hot hands . . . and the twinkle in Danny Murtagh's Irish eyes is brighter than it's been in a decade of treasure-hunting.

The swaggering Bucs scuttled the New York Mets 2-1 Sunday to capture the elusive division crown . . . their first title since Manager Murtagh steered them to a World Series conquest of the New York Yankees 10 years ago.

"Feeling's Great"

"This had to be more exciting, because it was nip and tuck all the way," said the jubilant skipper, who returned to the Pirates' helm this season following a two-year hiatus . . . to find himself embroiled in one of the most desperate races in NL history. "We had breathing room in 1960. But the feeling's the same . . . great!"

In completing a three-game weekend sweep, the Pirates mathematically eliminated both the Mets and the Chicago Cubs, whose hopes expired despite a 5-3 victory over Philadelphia. The Pirates have a 4½-game bulge over Chicago with three to play.

Cincinnati's West Division champs, who will take on the Pirates in the pennant playoffs beginning Saturday at Pittsburgh's new Three Rivers Stadium, beat Los Angeles 8-5. Elsewhere, Montreal nipped St. Louis 1-0 in 11 innings. San Francisco topped San Diego 3-2 and Houston bombed Atlanta 10-7.

After seizing the division lead last Aug. 2, they plodded along at a 19-20 clip for the next six weeks. But neither New York nor Chicago could win often enough to dislodge them.

Pittsburgh's much-maligned pitching staff allowed only 33 runs in the decisive 14-game stretch run. Their vaunted ace, The Mets' Dick Ellis, 13-10, for their lone run in the first inning, ex-Pirate Donn Clendenon driving it home with a one-out, bases-loaded single. But Ellis got Ken Boswell to bounce into a double play to end the damage and worked out of a none-out, bases-loaded jam in the fifth. In the eighth, he gave way to Giusti, who picked up his 26th save.

Lack dropped off, due in part to Roberto Clemente's nagging back ailment, but they continued to hit in the pinches.

Sunday's clincher was their fifth one-run decision in the seven games against New York . . . and third in as many days.

"Everybody says we don't have any pitching," said Dock Ellis, the winner Sunday with late help from relief ace Dave Giusti. "But that's just not true. How can anybody knock our pitching now?"

Record Crowd

A record Pittsburgh crowd of 50,469 saw the Pirates tie the game in the third on Dave Cash's single and a run-scoring double by Clemente. An inning later, they pushed over the winning run against Jim McAndrew on Richie Hebner's double, a walk, Matty Alou's single and Cash's bases-loaded sacrifice fly.

In Philadelphia, the Cubs paid tribute to the new champs after salvaging the finale of a fatal three-game set. "They didn't win it by sitting back and letting others do it for them," said Joe Pepitone. "They won the big one. We gave it our best, but it wasn't enough."

Cubs' ace Ferguson Jenkins nailed his 21st victory with a four-hitter and doubled home a seventh inning run before scoring what proved to be the winner on a single by Don Kessinger.

89-Yard Pass Beats Falcons

GREEN BAY, Wis. — The Green Bay Packers, hamstrung for almost the entire second half after injury to Bart Starr, rode an 89-yard touchdown pass from Don Horn to Carroll Dale to a 27-24 victory over the Atlanta Falcons Sunday in a National Football League game.

Horn, who had two passes intercepted and no completions in six earlier attempts, unloaded the bomb to Dale in the fourth quarter to erase a 24-20 Falcon lead. The ball carried 56 yards in the air from the goal line and Dale ran the remaining 44 yards unmolested.

The big play gave the Packers their first regular season victory in a game that was all Green Bay for the first half and all Atlanta for the second.

Starr wasted no time in igniting the Packer offense. On the first play he hit Donny Anderson with a 22-yard pass and didn't let up the rest of the half.

When it was over, Green Bay owned a 20-3 lead and Starr had statistics as good as any he ever had — nine of 10 passes for 196 yards and a touchdown. He threw three to Dale, who made two superb catches; two each to Jack Clancy and John Hilton and one to each of his backs. Anderson picked up two of the touchdowns on short runs.

The Packers made mistakes in the half — including allowing the Falcons to block an extra point attempt by Dale Livingston — but controlled the game.

The play came on second down and 24 to go from the Packer 11. Horn retreated to the goal line and fired. Dale beat Ken Reeves at the Atlanta 44.

Tigers Beaten, Near 5th Place

NEW YORK (AP) — The already sinking Detroit Tigers sunk a little closer to fifth place Sunday as they lost 4-2 to the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium.

It was the Tigers' 16th loss in three weeks.

The Tigers took a short-lived 1-0 lead in the first inning when Mickey Stanley tripled off Mel Stottlemyre and Jim Northrup scored him on a sacrifice fly.

But second-place New York tied it in the fourth when rookie Bobby Mitchell doubled home Bobby Murcer for his first of three RBI for the afternoon.

Roy White homered off Tiger starter John Hiller and Mitchell again doubled home Murcer to give New York a 3-1 edge.

Dalton Jones drove in Mickey Stanley in the eighth, but Mitchell once more drove Murcer to paydirt making it 4-2.

If the Cleveland Indians sweep their three game series in Detroit Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday with the Tigers, it will force the ex-champions into fifth place.

tration point attempt by Dale Livingston — but controlled the game.

It was different in the second half.

The Falcons scored their first touchdown in the third quarter moving 53 yards after blocking a Livingston field goal. Sonny Campbell scored from the four-yard line.

A 15-yard penalty helped Atlanta's second scoring drive capped by a 17-yard pass from Bob Berry to Harmon Wages. The second interception of Horn passed led to the final Falcons score.

Al Lavan picked off the pass and Atlanta scored from 3

Twilight League To End Tuesday At Highland Club

Tuesday is the last regularly scheduled Twilight League night at the Highland Golf Club and golfers will play a special "Beat The Champ" event.

Prizes will also be awarded to the five top places in league play, the top individual scorers in the league and top individual scorers on each team.

All golfers are asked to make their own foursomes and register in the clubhouse before going out play. Jerry Martin, the 1970 Highland champion, will play and those golfers registering for the special event will try to beat Martin's score, using their handicaps.

Wings Sign Howe To $100,000 Pact

By The Associated Press

While some of the younger National Hockey League stars are holding out for more money and submitting their contracts to arbitration, Gordie Howe, the veteran Detroit Red Wing, has signed a two-year contract estimated at $100,000 for each season.

Howe, who celebrated his 42nd birthday March 31, will be starting his 25th season in the NHL and club owner Bruce Norris said Saturday he "deserves more than we can give him and really more than the league can give him for all that he has done for the Red Wings and for hockey."

I've always said I've been paid satisfactorily, but not enough," Howe said. "I can honestly say it's quite enough this time."

However, there are some players who are not as satisfied with their contracts and still are unsigned. They include four New York Rangers suspended Sept. 16 for refusing to play exhibition games.

The four, centers Walt Tkacuk and Jean Ratelle, winger Vic Hadfield and defenseman Brad Park, now have agreed to submit their contracts to arbitration and their suspensions have been lifted.

Another young star, Derek Sanderson of the Boston Bruins, returned Saturday to the Bruins' training camp in London, Ont., after being reinstated following a two-day suspension. Sanderson, whose contract negotiations with the Bruins still are unresolved, has refused to say how much he is asking for but denied reports he is holding out for $70,000. He was suspended when he failed to return to training camp Thursday from Montreal where he was shooting scenes for a movie.

Lions Better, Brown Asserts

DETROIT (AP) — Cincinnati coach Paul Brown didn't beat around the bush or make excuses after his Bengals were clobbered by Detroit 38-3 in the Lions home football opener Sunday.

"They're better than we are. What the hell! Let's not make a federal case out of a mismatch."

"My guys are just proud to score against that team," he added.

Field Goal Boob

Detroit fans were hoping for the second consecutive National Football League shutout by the Lions, who mauled Green Bay 40-0 last week in the opener.

Dating back to the tail end of last season, Detroit's tenacious defense has given up just six points—two field goals—in the last four regular season games.

What may be more significant than the continued fine play of the defense is the fact that it is complemented by a very potent offense.

The Lions ran up a 31-0 halftime lead against the struggling Bengals before settling down to a seven-point second half.

Mel Farr scored two touchdowns, one on a five-yard run after taking a short pass from Bill Munson and the other on a one-yard buck. Munson, who moved the team well throughout, also tossed a one-yard TD pass to tight end Charlie Sanders.

The most dazzling play of the game came from the often dazzling Lem Barney, who very well may be the best player in the business.

Barney pretended to let a Cincinnati punt roll dead but while everyone seemed to be standing around, the fleet defensive back scooped up the ball and burst for a 61-yard touchdown run which was the final score of the second quarter.

The running combination of Farr and Altie Taylor was impressive and both runners utilized second effort continually to drag or shake tacklers. Farr gained 70 yards before Bill Triplett replaced him to start the second half.

"We try to stress the importance of hard running on getting extra yardage on your own," Schmidt said. "I think we've shown we do that."

Cincinnati wasted no time making mistakes and Detroit wasted no time capitalizing on them.

On the Bengals' second play quarterback Sam Wyche fumbled and Jerry Rush recovered for Detroit and ran six yards to the Cincinnati 10. Three plays later Munson tossed to Farr for the TD.

Except for the first series of downs, the Lions scored every time they had the ball in the first half—getting 24 points in the second quarter.

MICHIGAN'S GLENN DOUGHTY (23) runs around Washington's Bill Cahill (18) during game Saturday at Seattle. Michigan rallied in the second half for a 17-3 victory. (AP Wirephoto.)

Third Stringer Sparks U-M Comeback Victory

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Preston Henry may have a big head all week, but Michigan football coach Bo Schembechler probably has a hat to fit him.

The way Schembechler pulls running backs out of a hat he must have an awful big one.

Henry was his latest draw and the choice sparked Michigan to a 17-3 football victory over Washington at Seattle Saturday.

The triumph came only after the Wolverines trailed 0-3 at the half and only after third-string tailback Henry pulled the splinters from his pants to rush for 112 yards and two touchdowns.

"It was my first game this year and the pressure didn't bother me at all," said the six-foot, 185-pound speedster from Flint. "I just want to play."

It's amazing how second-year U-M coach Schembechler has come up with fine running backs when his team is on the spot. Last year everyone wondered how graduated All-American Ron Johnson could be replaced.

That question was quelled when sophomore Glenn Doughty rushed for 500 yards in his first five games.

"Get Three Tailbacks"

When Doughty got injured in game sophomore Bill Taylor who finished the season the team's No. 1 rusher with 864 yards.

Taylor and Doughty started in the same backfield against Washington, but when Doughty bogged down Bo called on Lance Scheffler. Scheffler got hurt and it was Henry's turn.

"We've got three tailbacks and all three will play a lot," Schembechler said.

"Henry has looked good in practice all fall," he added. "I wasn't surprised at how well he did."

When Henry, a junior who originally started at wingback this fall, walked off the team's chartered plane at Metropolitan Airport after the triumph he was greeted by signs of praise and a flock of fans.

"Hey Preston!" a teammate yelled as the players filed off the plane.

"Don't talk to him," joked another. "His head's too big."

Michigan played a sluggish first half, although sensational Huskie sophomore quarterback Sonny Sixkiller was unable to engineer a touchdown drive.

Cala Ties Score

But, with Henry churning away, the Wolverines came alive immediately in the third quarter by driving to the Husky 19 before Paul Staroba fumbled after catching a pass from Don Moorhead. The next time with the ball U-M tied the score 3-3 on a 30-yard field goal by Dana Olin five plays after a 22-yard burst by Henry.

The turning point came late in the quarter when Sixkiller failed twice to sneak one-yard for a first down at the Husky 49. Four plays later Henry ran eight yards for a touchdown on a Moorhead pithout.

Henry's final TD was a 30-yard burst with 20 seconds left in the game.

Washington's score came on a 35-yard field goal by Steve Wiesnowski in the first quarter.

It was the second consecutive week Michigan defense failed to give up a touchdown. In the opener a week previous at Ann Arbor, Arizona managed three field goals in a 20-0 loss to U-M.

Spartans Find A Quarterback

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State has found a quarterback and the confidence needed to face the murderer's row of football coming up next — Notre Dame, Ohio State and Michigan.

The 20-24 win Saturday over Washington State should give the Spartans some spark and spark to face this awesome threesome.

"But we sure won't be overconfident," admitted MSU coach Duffy Daugherty.

Mike Rasmussen, the cool and brainy left-handed thrower from Fremont, California, passed for three touchdowns and engineered a 57-yard march for another TD.

His star receiver was 181-pound Eric (The Fie) Allen, who caught three for pass-runs scores covering 18 and 24 yards. Gordon Bowdell took a 22-yarder in for a score with less than three minutes gone in the game to start the Spartans marching down the touchdown trail.

Henry Matthews was the big ball of the backfield going for 85 yards net rushing and threw himself in for the other touchdown from one yard out.

Allen also returned three punts 111 yards to thrill the Spartan Stadium crowd of 64,063 braving a chilly drizzle. Allen was given the game ball. For Spartan fans, it was par-moderately satisfactory that Rasmussen was trusted by the coaches to call 90 per cent of his own plays. He checked the Cougar defense at the line and offered signals calling audibles according to the set-up spotted.

Rasmussen completed with 15 pass completions in 27 tries for 285 yards net. He also was the second leading rusher with 49 yards, unusual for a quarterback.

Eight Interceptions

Daugherty's redefined young defense did its job well. The defense intercepted eight Washington State passes, a new team record topping six interceptions against Arizona in 1969.

Bred VanPelt, a sophomore Orosco, making his first start at safety, grabbed off three of the misdirected Washington State throws.

MSU fans had better start to learn how to spell and pronounce the name of Boris Shapka, the soccer-style extra point kicker. He had a perfect 4-for-4 record.

Even seven fumbles lost didn't mar the day for MSU, although Daugherty had some crisp comments on the subject.

"By mistake of missed five tds by mistakes," Daugherty complained. "Our backs were running hard, but a little reckless."

Akron Sloshes Past Northern

AKRON, Ohio — The University of Akron Zips rallied in the fourth quarter to defeat Northern Michigan 19-6 in the rain and mud before a weather logged crowd of 14,747 Rubber Bowl fans Saturday night.

Northern nursed a 6-0 lead into the final period after scoring on a 14-yard pass from halfback Garry Scott to end Mike Weigandt in the second quarter.

The Wildcat defense made the six points stand up with three brilliant goal line stands, stopping Akron once on the one-foot line, a second time at the two and a third time at the eight.

But a bad center snap on a Northern punt gave the ball to Akron on the NMU 34 late in the third period and the Zips turned it into the game-winning points early in the fourth quarter. Calvin Pierce scored on a fourth-and-3 play and John Harrison kicked the PTA to put Akron in front 7-6.

Northern, gambling late in the game, had a Marty Brenner pass intercepted deep in NMU territory by Joe Zwiler and four plays later, with 4:48 left, Pierce scored again on a fourth-and-1 play to make it 13-6.

Akron got an insurance touchdown less than a minute later after a Wildcat fourth down pass failed at the Northern 28. Wayne Bavelensky went 28 yards for the tally on the next play.

Twilight League To End Tuesday At Highland Club

Tuesday is the last regularly scheduled Twilight League night at the Highland Golf Club and golfers will play a special "Best The Champ" event.

Prizes will also be awarded to the five top places in league play, the top individual scorers in the league and top individual scorers on each team.

All golfers are asked to make their own foursomes and register in the clubhouse before going out play. Jerry Martin, the 1970 Highland champion, will play and those golfers registering for the special event will try to beat Martin's score, using their handicaps.

Howe, who celebrated his 42nd birthday March 31, will be starting his 25th season in the NHL and club owner Bruce Norris said Saturday he "deserves more than we can give him and really more than the league can give him for all that he has done for the Red Wings and for hockey."

However, there are some players who are not so satisfied

Wings Sign Howe To $100,000 Pact

By The Associated Press

While some of the younger National Hockey League stars are holding out for more money and submitting their contracts to arbitration, Gordie Howe, the veteran Detroit Red Wing, has signed a two-year contract estimated at $100,000 for each season.

Howe, who celebrated his 42nd birthday March 31, will be starting his 25th season in the NHL and club owner Bruce Norris said Saturday he "deserves more than we can give him and really more than the league can give him for all that he has done for the Red Wings and for hockey."

I've always said I've been paid satisfactorily, but not enough," Howe said. "I can honestly say it's quite enough this time."

However, there are some players who are not so satisfied with their contracts and still are unsigned. They include four New York Rangers suspended Sept. 16 for refusing to play exhibition games.

The four centers Walt Tkacuk and Jean Ratelle, winger Vic Hadfield and defenseman Brad Park, now have agreed to submit their contracts to arbitration and their suspensions have been lifted.

Another young star, Derek Sanderson of the Boston Bruins, returned Saturday to the Bruins' training camp in London, Ont., after being reinstated following a two-day suspension.

Sanderson, whose contract negotiations with the Bruins still are unresolved, has refused to say how much he is asking for but denied reports he is holding out for $70,000. He was suspended when he failed to return to training camp Thursday from Montreal where he was shooting scenes for a movie.

89-Yard Pass Beats Falcons

GREEN BAY, Wis. — The Green Bay Packers, hamstringing for almost the entire second half after injury to Bart Starr, rode an 89-yard touchdown pass from Don Horn to Carroll Dale to a 27-24 victory over the Atlanta Falcons Sunday in a National Football League game.

Horn, who had two passes intercepted and no completions in six earlier attempts, unloaded the bomb to Dale in the fourth quarter to erase a 24-20 Falcons lead. The ball carried 86 yards in the air from the goal line and Dale ran the remaining 44 yards unmolested.

The big play gave the Packers their first regular season victory in a game that was all Green Bay for the first half and all Atlanta for the second.

Starr wasted no time in igniting the Packer offense. On the first play he hit Donny Anderson with a 22-yard pass and didn't let up the rest of the half.

When it was over, Green Bay owned a 20-8 lead and Starr had statistics as good as any he ever had — nine of 10 passes for 186 yards and a touchdown.

Tigers Beaten, Near 5th Place

NEW YORK (AP) — The already sinking Detroit Tigers sunk a little closer to fifth place Sunday as they lost 4-3 to the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium.

It was the Tigers' 16th loss in three weeks.

The Tigers took a short-lived 1-0 lead in the first inning when Mickey Stanley tripled off Mel Stottlemyre and Jim Northrup scored him on a sacrifice fly.

But second-place New York tied it in the fourth when rookie Bobby Mitchell doubled home Bobby Murcer for his first of three RBIs for the afternoon.

Roy White homered off Tiger starter John Hiller and Mitchell again doubled home Murcer to give New York a 3-1 edge.

Dalton Jones drove in Mickey Stanley in the eighth, but Mitchell once more drove Murcer to paydirt making it 4-3.

If the Cleveland Indians sweep their three game series in Detroit Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday with the Tigers, it will force the ex-champions into fifth place.

down. He threw three to Dale, who made two superb catches and two each to Jack Clancy and John Hiller and one to each of his backs. Anderson picked up two of the touchdowns on short runs.

The Packers made mistakes in the half — including allowing the Falcons to block an extra point attempt by Dale Livingston — but controlled the game.

It was different in the second half.

The Falcons scored their first touchdown in the third quarter, moving 53 yards after blocking a Livingston field goal. Sonny Campbell scored from the four yard line.

A 15-yard penalty helped Atlanta's second scoring drive, capped by a 17-yard pass from Bob Berry to Harmon Wages. The second interception of a Horn pass led to the final Packer score.

Al Levan picked off the pass and Atlanta scored from 34 yards away. The touchdown came on Berry's pass in the end zone to Todd Snyder with 7:40 to play, setting the stage for the Horn-Dale heroics.

'Lions Better,' Brown Asserts

DETROIT (AP) — Cincinnati coach Paul Brown said he beat around the bush or make excuses after his Bengals were clobbered by Detroit 28-8 in the Lions' home football opener Sunday.

"They're better than we are. What the hell! Let's not make a federal case out of a mismatch."

"My guys are just proud to score against that team," he added.

Field Goal Boos

Detroit fans were hoping for the second consecutive National Football League shutout by the Lions, who mauled Green Bay 40-0 last week in the opener.

Dating back to the tail end of last season, Detroit's vaunted defense has given up just six points—two field goals—in the last four regular season games.

What may be more significant than the continued fine play of the defense is the fact that it is complemented by a very potent offense.

The Lions ran up a 21-0 half-time lead against the struggling Bengals before settling down to a seven-point second half.

Mel Farr scored two touchdowns, one on a five-yard run after taking a short pass from Bill Munson and the other on a one-yard buck. Munson, who moved the team well throughout, also tossed a one-yard TD pass to tight end Charlie Son-ders.

The most dazzling play of the game came from the often-dazzling Len Barney, who very well may be the best player in the business.

Barney pretended to let a Cincinnati punt roll dead but while everyone seemed to be standing around, the fleet defensive back scooped up the ball and burst for a 61-yard touchdown run which was the final score of the second quarter.

The running combination of Farr and Albie Taylor was impressive and both runners utilized second effort continually to drag or shake tacklers. Farr gained 70 yards before Bill Triplett replaced him to start the second half.

"We try to stress the importance of hard running on getting extra yardage on your own," Schmidt said. "I think we've shown we do that."

Cincinnati wasted no time making mistakes and Detroit wasted no time capitalizing on them.

On the Bengals' second play quarterback Sam Wyche fumbled and Jerry Rush recovered for Detroit and ran six yards to the Cincinnati 10. Three plays later Munson tossed to Farr for the TD.

Except for the first series of downs, the Lions scored every time they had the ball in the first half—getting 24 points in the second quarter.

Classified Ads Cost Little But Do A BIG JOB

others do it for them," said Joe Pepitone. "They won the big one. We gave it our best, but it wasn't enough."

Holy Name Wins; Escanaba, Gladstone Fall

Crusaders Post Third Shutout, Remain Unbeaten

By MIKE UTT
ST. IGNACE — Playing the toughest opponent that they have met this season, the Holy Name Crusaders notched their fourth straight victory by scoring a 14-0 decision over the St. Ignace Saints in a non-conference clash here Saturday night.

Holy Name's victory marked just the second time that St. Ignace has been beaten on its home field in the past six years and gave the Crusaders a 6-0 record in games with the Saints.

The shutout was Holy Name's third straight this season and the Crusaders have now scored 88 points in four games, while giving up just eight.

Except for the one series of downs where Holy Name scored, St. Ignace completely dominated offensive play in the first half. Quarterback Jeff Savord was the main offensive threat in the first two periods for the Saints, completing eight of 15 passing attempts for 83 yards. The Saints also picked up seven first downs in the first half, compared with only one for the Crusaders.

Joran Intercepts
Neither team mounted any kind of scoring threat in the opening period of play, although Joe Joran gave the Crusaders' good field position early in the period when he intercepted one of Savord's passes and returned the ball 23 yards to the St. Ignace 40.

Holy Name got its first scoring opportunity in the second quarter after junior halfback Joe Hughes gathered in a St. Ignace punt at his own 40-yard line and returned it 39 yards to the Saints' 21.

Five carries by John DeGrand and Joe Moberg moved the ball down to the two, where Moberg bulled his way into the end zone on the next play for the touchdown. DeGrand was stopped short of the goal line in an attempt for the two-point conversion and Holy Name held a 6-0 lead with 5:44 left in the first half.

St. Ignace got rolling after the kickoff and moved down to the Crusaders' 12-yard line in 16 plays. Key plays in the drive were three passes thrown by Savord that accounted for 33 yards.

Tough Defense
From the 12-yard line, the St. Ignace drive started going in reverse, thanks to some outstanding play by the Crusader defense and wound up back at the Crusaders' 47-yard line when the half ended.

Leading the Crusader defensive charge was end Bill Skradski, who made numerous tackles in the Saints' backfield throughout the game.

St. Ignace wasted little time in mounting another scoring threat, as it took the second half kickoff and marched 50 yards in eight plays to the Holy Name 17-yard line.

Once again the Crusader defense answered the call and stopped the drive when Skradski, Joe Harvey and Chuck Guay rushed Savord and dropped him at the 34-yard line for a 17-yard loss. Savord was shaken up on the play and had to be removed from the game, but only for two plays.

Drive Stalled
After St. Ignace gained back eight yards on a fourth down play, the Crusaders took over on their own 26-yard line and began a drive downfield that was stalled at the St. Ignace seven-yard line.

Key plays in this drive were passes from quarterback Joe Kroll to Neil Odgers, Joran and Moberg, which accounted for 46 yards, and a nine-yard run by Kroll on third down for a first down at the St. Ignace 10.

Kroll also passed for a touchdown to Hughes from the seven yard line, but it was called back because of a motion penalty.

DeGrand picked up four yards before Kroll connected with sophomore Jim Joran on a 40-yard pass play that put the ball on the Saints' 25.

Touchdown Pass
Three carries by Moberg and two by DeGrand moved the ball to the four, where Kroll found Joe Hughes open in the end zone for the touchdown. He then passed to Moberg for the two-point conversion and Holy Name led 14-0 with 1:40 left on the clock.

Kroll, who turned in one of his finest performances of the season, completed six of 10 passing attempts for 95 yards, while the Crusaders rushed for 96 yards, giving them a total of 191 yards for the game.

DeGrand led all ball carriers in the game with 40 yards in 11 carries and Moberg chipped in with 38 yards in the same number of attempts.

The Crusaders will now try to protect their perfect record at Kingsford Friday night against the Flivvers in a Great Northern Conference test. Holy Name is 2-0 in conference play, while Kingsford is also unbeaten at 1-0.

Braves Fall To Redmen In Great Lakes Battle

By MIKE UTT
GLADSTONE — Although coming out on top of virtually every statistical department, the Gladstone Braves came out on the short end of a 9-7 score in a Great Lakes Conference football game with the Marquette Redmen Saturday afternoon at the Marble Athletic Field.

Gladstone, ranked third among football teams in the Upper Peninsula before the game, had been undefeated and unscathed upon in three previous games before Saturday.

The Braves outgained the Redmen by 100 yards in total yardage and picked up 13 first downs in the game, compared with only three for Marquette.

Oddly enough, it was not Gladstone's defense that stood out Saturday, as Marquette stopped two Braves' scoring drives in the first half that could have changed the outcome.

Answer Challenge
Marquette's defense answered its first challenge on the first play of the second quarter after Richard DeMay of the Braves returned a punt 28 yards to the Marquette 22 late in the first period.

Gladstone moved to the two-yard line in four plays before Gary Young carried to the one-foot line. Young tried to carry the ball across the end line again on a fourth down play, but he was met by the Redmen's forward wall and stopped for no gain.

Marquette was forced to punt after failing to pick up a first down and Gladstone's Terry Cartwright fielded the ball and brought it back 19 yards to the 20.

The Braves moved down to the five-yard line in six plays but Marquette stopped Young again two yards short of the end zone and took over on downs.

Recover Fumble
The Redmen failed again to pick up a first down and were forced to punt, but in attempting to field the ball, Cartwright fumbled and Marquette recovered at their own 46-yard line.

Taking advantage of the break, halfback Dave Machowski took the ball on a handoff from quarterback Randy Payne and threw a 35-yard pass to Mike Bressette, putting the ball on the Gladstone 19.

Kurt Albrecht carried twice for four yards and Payne threw an incomplete pass before Machowski was called on again. This time the versatile halfback used his kicking ability to boot a 34-yard field goal at the 3:29 mark of the second period.

Machowski was credited with a 34-yard field goal because the ball was placed down on the 24-yard line and the kicker is credited with the additional 10 yards that the goal posts are set behind the goal line.

Goodney Scampers
The first half ended with Marquette ahead by a 3-0 margin, but things did not stay that way long, as Marquette got on the board again at the 7:40 mark of the third quarter on a 70-yard scamper by Dick Goodney. Gladstone had shut out Goodney in four carries in the first half.

Machowski's kick for the extra point went off the side of his foot and was wide of the mark.

Gladstone got on the board early in the fourth quarter after taking possession on the Marquette 3-yard line following a Redman punt.

Halfback Keith Demeuse carried three times for 18 yards, putting the ball on the 13. Cartwright lost four yards before quarterback Bob Prins connected with Murray Youngs on a 17-yard pass play for the touchdown. Wayne Marshall kicked the extra point, cutting Marquette's margin to 9-7.

Threat Killed
An offensive interference call killed another Gladstone scoring threat the next time the Braves had the ball and they were forced to turn the ball over to the Redmen with about five minutes left in the game.

Marquette punted back to the Braves after failing to pick up a first down. Gladstone took over on its own 20-yard line and moved down to the Marquette 14 in 11 plays behind some fine passing by Prins and running by Young.

Young moved the ball to the 11 on first down, and Prins threw an incomplete pass on second down. Marquette's defense smothered Prins for a 10-yard loss on the next play and Bob Richards, the Gladstone coach, sent Pat McGeary into the game to attempt a 37-yard field goal. McGeary's kick was blocked and Marquette took over on the 46-yard line, where the Redmen ran out the clock.

Engadine Races Past Cheboygan

ENGADINE — The Engadine Eagles took over first place in the Eastern Upper Peninsula Conference football race Saturday, rolling to a 20-0 victory over Cheboygan Catholic.

The Eagles scored the first time they had their hands on the ball.

Skip Bigger scored twice for Engadine and Gus Thillman added the final score on a 45-yard run.

The Eagles moved 55 yards in eight plays after a Cheboygan punt for their first touchdown. Bigger scored from the three yard line and then passed to Dick Leasatz for the two-point conversion. Two passes from Bigger to Gene Salter for 30 and 11 yards were the key plays in the drive.

Engadine's second scoring drive covered 88 yards with Thillman running for 20 yards and Bigger passing to Salter for 39, before Bigger scored on an eight-yard keeper play. Thillman, who had a 70-yard touchdown run called back because of a penalty, broke loose for his touchdown to cap an 87-yard Engadine drive early in the fourth quarter.

Bigger, who completed seven of 14 passes for 12 yards, gained 85 yards to lead the Eagles' ground attack. Thillman netted 72 yards in eight carries. Coach Rod Carlson cited Gary King, who was in on 17 tackles, Salter, Less Machinski and Dennis Kleeman for their strong defensive efforts.

Eskymo Fumbles Hand Kingsford 24-7 Victory

By DAVE ANDREWS
"Fumbles, fumbles, fumbles..." Coach Jerry Cvangros shook his head slowly in the Eskymos' quiet locker room Saturday night.

The Upper Peninsula's No. 1 high school football team fumbled away the ball five times deep in their own territory, handing Kingsford all of its points in a 24-7 Great Northern Conference loss.

It was a crushing setback for the fired-up Eskymos, who had hoped to avenge an 18-0 loss to the Flivvers by the same fumble route last fall. Besides the number one ranking in the Upper Peninsula Sportsman's Association football poll and a share of the Great Northern Conference lead, Escanaba may have lost quarterback and defensive ace Tom Kangas for the rest of the season.

"To High At Start"
Kangas suffered an injury to his left knee in the second quarter and didn't return to action.

"I don't know how we can make every mistake in the book against them two years in a row," wondered assistant coach Jim Hinn. "I think we were a little too high at the start of the game," said Cvangros. "I was sort of hoping we'd lose the toss and have to kick," so Kingsford would have to handle the ball first.

Indeed, it might have changed the complexion of the game. The Eskymos fumbled the opening kickoff at their own 30-yard line and three plays later they were behind to stay.

Scores For Flivvers
On third down from the Escanaba 28, halfback Tim Zablocki took a pitchout from quarterback Nick Phillips and, with Eskymo defenders noticeably absent, burst down the sidelines for Kingsford's first six points with the game only 78 seconds old. The Flivvers messed up the extra point — one of four they failed to convert during the evening — but Escanaba wasn't finished fumbling, either.

Zablocki covered John Vogt's fumble of a Phillips punt late in the quarter, again on Escanaba's 30 yard line, and in six plays plus an Eskymo penalty the Flivvers had a 12-0 lead. Fullback Dan Brockington got the touchdown on a one-yard plunge on fourth down. The key play in the advance was a 14-yard pass from Phillips to Howie Amundsen which carried to the Escanaba nine.

Drive 71 Yards
Kangas finally got the Eskymos going in the second quarter before he left with the knee injury.

Starting on his own 29, Kangas drove Escanaba 71 yards in 12 plays for their only score. A pass from Kangas to Doug Howard ate up most of the ground, 30 yards to the Kingsford 17, and when a Kingsford defensive back whacked Howard after the whistle the Eskymo mos had a first down at the nine.

Bill Suriano carried to the five, then Kangas took it in for the touchdown on three straight sneaks over center. His perfect placement brought the Eskymos to within five points, 12-7, but another fumble deep in their own territory just before the half turned the game around again.

Put in a hole by Phillips' punt which was downed on the three yard line, the Eskymos promptly continued their generosity as Rick Brookes fumbled on the nine yard line and Randy Johns came up with the ball for the Flivvers.

Pitches TD Pass
John Noblet nailed Phillips for a three-yard loss on the first play, but the veteran Kingsford quarterback calmly flipped a screen pass to Zablocki over the onrushing Eskymo line on second down and the 170-pound halfback cruised the 12 yards behind a wall of blockers for his second touchdown.

The half ended 18-7 and the ball game could have finished that way, too, as Escanaba's defense stiffened in the second half, allowing Kingsford only two first downs, one by penalty, and a net offense of only eight yards.

But there was one more gift. Punter Dave Schwalbach was unable to handle a high pass from center, then bobbled the ball trying to pick it up near his goal line as the Kingsford line closed in. Guard Randy Johns finally corralled the elusive pigskin near the goal line and stepped the final yard into the end zone with 1:56 to play.

Another Fumble
The Eskymos had one last chance. But the fifth lost fumble of the night stopped that.

"Kingsford's a good ball club, but they're not invincible," Cvangros said. "I'm not ashamed of the way we played. The only thing I'm ashamed of is the fumbles."

"Our defense played real well the second half," he continued. "I was proud of them the second half. If we hit like that, we'll win some games."

The Eskymos completely throttled Kingsford's attack in the second half, throwing Phillips and his running back for 34 yards in losses and giving only grudging yards to 205-pound fullback Paul Bonnell through the middle.

Kingsford's defense was almost as effective, allowing the Eskymos only one brief thrust on the strength of a 38-yard pass from Rich Miketnac, taking over at quarterback for Kangas, to Al Henrickson. The play carried to the Flivver 36.

The Eskymos advanced to the 28 yard line in two plays, but two other passes were broken up and Kingsford took over. Miketnac was thrown for 48 yards in losses, but Cvangros refused to fault the junior signal caller. "He did a good job, but they knew we had to pass," he said.

Escanaba returns to action next Saturday night at West Iron County in another Great Northern Conference battle.

Holy Name Wins; Escanaba, Gladstone Fall

By JAMES W. WYATT
ST. IGNACE — The Holy Name Crusaders, who have not lost a game since their fourth-place finish in the 1969-70 season, posted their third shutout victory by scoring a 14-0 win over the St. Ignace Saints in a high-scoring game Saturday night.

Holy Name's victory marked just the second time that St. Ignace has been beaten on its home field in the past six years and gave the Crusaders a 6-0 record in games with the Saints.

The shutout was Holy Name's third straight this season and the Crusaders have now scored 30 points in four games, while giving up just eight.

Except for the one series of downs where Holy Name scored, St. Ignace completely dominated the game. The Crusaders played in the first half, quarterback Jeff Savard was the main offensive threat in the first two periods for the Saints, completing eight of 15 passing attempts for 55 yards. The Saints also picked up seven first downs in the first half, compared with only one for the Crusaders.

Neither team mounted any kind of scoring threat in the opening period of play, although Joe Joran gave the Crusaders' good field position.

early in the period when he intercepted one of Savard's passes and returned the ball 30 yards to the St. Ignace 40.

Holy Name got its first scoring opportunity in the second quarter after junior halfback Joe Hughes gathered in a St. Ignace punt at his own 40-yard line and returned it 39 yards to the Saints' 21.

Five carries by John DeGrand and Joe Moberg moved the ball down to the two, where Moberg bulled his way into the end zone on the next play for the touchdown. DeGrand was stopped short of the goal line in an attempt for the two-point conversion and Holy Name held a 6-0 lead with 5:44 left in the first half.

St. Ignace got rolling after the kickoff and moved down to the Crusaders' 15-yard line in 10 plays. Key plays in the drive were three passes thrown by Savard that accounted for 55 yards.

Tough Defense
From the 15-yard line, the St. Ignace drive started going in reverse, thanks to some outstanding play by the Crusader defense and wound up back at the Crusaders' 47-yard line when the half ended.

Leading the Crusader defensive charge was end Bill Skradski, who made numerous tackles in the Saints' backfield throughout the game.

St. Ignace wasted little time in mounting another scoring threat, as it took the second half kickoff and marched 50 yards in eight plays to the Holy Name 17-yard line.

Once again the Crusader defense answered the call and stopped the drive when Skradski, Joe Harvey and Chuck Guay rushed Savard and dropped him at the 34-yard line for a 17-yard loss. Savard was shaken up on the play and had to be removed from the game, but only for two plays.

After St. Ignace gained back eight yards on a fourth down play, the Crusaders took over on their own 30-yard line and began a drive downfield that was stalled at the St. Ignace seven-yard line.

Key plays in this drive were passes from quarterback Joe Krohl to Neil Odgers, Joran and Moberg, which accounted for 46 yards, and a nine-yard run by Krohl on third down for a first down at the St. Ignace 10.

Krohl also passed for a touchdown to Hughes from the seven-yard line, but it was called back because of a motion penalty.

Holy Name's other touchdown was set up by a pass interception by linebacker Ray Hughes on the Holy Name 31-yard line.

DeGrand picked up four yards before Krohl connected with sophomore Jim Joran on a 40-yard pass play that put the ball on the Saints' 23.

Touchdown Pass
Three carries by Moberg and two by DeGrand moved the ball to the four, where Krohl found Joe Hughes open in the end zone for the touchdown.

He then passed to Moberg for the two-point conversion and Holy Name led 14-0 with 1:40 left on the clock.

Krohl, who turned in one of his finest performances of the season, completed six of 10 passing attempts for 95 yards, while the Crusaders rushed for 96 yards, giving them a total of 191 yards for the game.

DeGrand led all ball carriers in the game with 40 yards in 11 carries and Moberg chipped in with 38 yards in the same number of attempts.

The Crusaders will now try to protect their perfect record at Kingsford Friday night against the Flyers in a Great Northern Conference test. Holy Name is 3-0 in conference play, while Kingsford is also unbeaten at 1-0.

Eskymo Fumbles Hand Kingsford 24-7 Victory

By DAVE ANDREWS
"Fumbles, fumbles, fumbles..."

Coach Jerry Cvangros shook his head slowly in the Eskymos' quiet locker room Saturday night.

The Upper Peninsula's No. 1 high school football team fumbled away the ball five times deep in their own territory, handing Kingsford all of its points in a 24-7 Great Northern Conference loss.

It was a crushing setback for the fired-up Eskymos, who had hoped to avenge an 18-0 loss to the Flyers by the same fumble route last fall. Besides the number one ranking in the Upper Peninsula Sportsman's Association football poll and a share of the Great Northern Conference lead, Escanaba may have lost quarterback and defensive ace Tom Kangas for the rest of the season.

"To High At Start"

Kangas suffered an injury to his left knee in the second quarter and didn't return to action.

"I don't know how we can make every mistake in the book against them two years in a row," wondered assistant coach Jim Hira.

"I think we were a little too high at the start of the game," said Cvangros. "I was sort of hoping we'd lose the toss and have to kick," so Kingsford would have to handle the ball first.

Indeed, it might have changed the complexion of the game. The Eskymos fumbled the opening kickoff at their own 30-yard line and three plays later they were behind to stay.

On third down from the Escanaba 23, halfback Tim Zabolocki took a pituitous from quarterback Nick Phillips and, with Eskymo defenders noticeably absent, burst down the sidelines for Kingsford's first six points with the game only 78 seconds old. The Flyers missed up the extra point — one of four they failed to convert during the evening — but Escanaba wasn't finished fumbling, either.

Zabolocki covered John Vogt's fumble of a Phillips punt late in the quarter, again on Escanaba's 30 yard line, and in six plays plus an Eskymo penalty the Flyers had a 13-0 lead.

Fullback Dan Brockington got the touchdown on a one-yard plunge on fourth down. The key play in the advance was a 14-yard pass from Phillips to Howie Amundsen which carried to the Escanaba nine.

Drive 71 Yards

Kangas finally got the Eskymos going in the second quarter before he left with the knee injury.

Starting on his own 29, Kangas drove Escanaba 71 yards in 13 plays for their only score. A pass from Kangas to Doug Howard ate up most of the ground, 30 yards to the Kingsford 17, and when a Kingsford defensive back whacked Howard after the whistle the Eskymos had a first down at the St. Ignace 10.

Touchdown Pass

Three carries by Moberg and two by DeGrand moved the ball to the four, where Krohl found Joe Hughes open in the end zone for the touchdown.

He then passed to Moberg for the two-point conversion and Holy Name led 14-0 with 1:40 left on the clock.

Three carries by Moberg and two by DeGrand moved the ball to the four, where Krohl found Joe Hughes open in the end zone for the touchdown.

He then passed to Moberg for the two-point conversion and Holy Name led 14-0 with 1:40 left on the clock.

Krohl, who turned in one of his finest performances of the season, completed six of 10 passing attempts for 95 yards, while the Crusaders rushed for 96 yards, giving them a total of 191 yards for the game.

DeGrand led all ball carriers in the game with 40 yards in 11 carries and Moberg chipped in with 38 yards in the same number of attempts.

The Crusaders will now try to protect their perfect record at Kingsford Friday night against the Flyers in a Great Northern Conference test. Holy Name is 3-0 in conference play, while Kingsford is also unbeaten at 1-0.

Holy Name's victory marked just the second time that St. Ignace has been beaten on its home field in the past six years and gave the Crusaders a 6-0 record in games with the Saints.

The shutout was Holy Name's third straight this season and the Crusaders have now scored 30 points in four games, while giving up just eight.

Except for the one series of downs where Holy Name scored, St. Ignace completely dominated the game. The Crusaders played in the first half, quarterback Jeff Savard was the main offensive threat in the first two periods for the Saints, completing eight of 15 passing attempts for 55 yards. The Saints also picked up seven first downs in the first half, compared with only one for the Crusaders.

Neither team mounted any kind of scoring threat in the opening period of play, although Joe Joran gave the Crusaders' good field position.

St. Ignace wasted little time in mounting another scoring threat, as it took the second half kickoff and marched 50 yards in eight plays to the Holy Name 17-yard line.

Once again the Crusader defense answered the call and stopped the drive when Skradski, Joe Harvey and Chuck Guay rushed Savard and dropped him at the 34-yard line for a 17-yard loss. Savard was shaken up on the play and had to be removed from the game, but only for two plays.

After St. Ignace gained back eight yards on a fourth down play, the Crusaders took over on their own 30-yard line and began a drive downfield that was stalled at the St. Ignace seven-yard line.

Key plays in this drive were passes from quarterback Joe Krohl to Neil Odgers, Joran and Moberg, which accounted for 46 yards, and a nine-yard run by Krohl on third down for a first down at the St. Ignace 10.

Krohl also passed for a touchdown to Hughes from the seven-yard line, but it was called back because of a motion penalty.

Holy Name's other touchdown was set up by a pass interception by linebacker Ray Hughes on the Holy Name 31-yard line.

Touchdown Pass

Three carries by Moberg and two by DeGrand moved the ball to the four, where Krohl found Joe Hughes open in the end zone for the touchdown.

He then passed to Moberg for the two-point conversion and Holy Name led 14-0 with 1:40 left on the clock.

Pontiac Area Book Assailed; Ban Suggested

PONTIAC (AP) — A State Board of Education member has labeled a history book on Oakland County an "insult to generations of minority groups" and asked that it be banned in public schools.

The "Oakland County Book of History, 1820-1970" "appears to violate the minimum recommendations for treatment of minorities in social studies material," said board member Charles E. Morton of Detroit in his resolution to ban the book.

"This kind of distortion of history is something we have had to contend with for years," Morton said. "If allowed public sanction, this false version of history will be accepted by future generations."

Morton noted, "Mexican-Americans aren't even mentioned and Indians just sort of disappear."

He also contended a section of the book dealing with blacks contained "distortions and falsifications against the permission of the author."

The author, Mrs. Doris B. Storer, research director for the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity, has contended the document she submitted for editing was shortened and changed.

She said she has asked Oakland University and legal authorities to study her version and the published version for possible legal action and commented, "After editing, what appeared is a typical 'white' version of history."

The history, edited by Arthur A. Hagman, was produced in connection with the Oakland County sesquicentennial and is for sale.

Other board members moved to table Morton's resolution until next week to give them more time to study the book. They said they had not yet seen the publication.

MANISTIQUE Democratic Rallies To Begin Wednesday

The first of four Democratic rallies will be held Wednesday night at 8 at the Doyle School. An invitation to attend all four rallies has been extended county, township, congressional and legislative candidates, C. Vern Johnson, County Democratic chairman said this week.

Wednesday night's rally will be for Doyle, Manistique and Mueller Township voters. Chairmen of the event are Robert Leny, Archie Carpenter and Bill Cowman with an assist from Lindsey Frenette, Edwin Johnson, Duane MacGregor, Richard Rodgers, Linda Walters, Thurman Skarritt Sr., Wells Bowers, Edna Bashore, Agnes McGahan, Robert Goudreau, John Watson, Helen Schnurer, Cecile Rubick, Janet Hamill, Sandra Price, Ken Lee, Lyle Rosebush and Sally Lauzon.

A second rally for Hiawatha, Inwood and Thompson Townships is planned for either Oct. 11 or 14 with a place and time to be announced.

Lloyd Gray, Harold McNamara, Calvin Jenerou and Ernest Hoholik are chairmen of this rally. Committee workers include Jess Gutierrez, Russell Tennant, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Carley, Joe Skomski, Nels Halsey, Leo Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gray, Jean Hoholik, Maynard Bradford, Lawrence Aldrich, John Swanson, Nick Frankovich, Margaret Cantrell, Dondia Benard and John Olsen.

The City of Manistique rally will be held Sunday, Oct. 25 with Earl LeBrasseur, Herb Calhoun, Homer Weber, Norman Jahn, Frank Gierke and Guerda Frenette of the women's organization as chairmen. Committee workers include Ernest Hoholik, David Rood, Vern and Margaret Johnson, Paul and Jean Hollenbeck, U. S. A. Heggblom, Leo DeMars and the women's organization.

The following Sunday, Nov. 1 will be the final rally for Seney and Germfask Townships with chairmen Leonard H. Shay, Thurman Skarritt Sr. and Fred Lesica. Committee members are Mary Lytle, George Burton, Clayton St. Martin, Jennie Nelson, Warren Anderson, George Hollingshead, Norman Nelson, Myrtle St. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Rose, Eleta Shay, Edna Skarritt and Betty Skarritt.

Man Arrested On Stolen Car Count Here

Michigan State Police arrested Kevin Forster, 23, Kimberly, Wis., and charged him with unlawfully driving away an automobile early Saturday morning. Forster was jailed pending arraignment in District Court.

Officers said Forster was stopped for a speeding violation and was unable to produce owner-registration papers on the car. A check revealed the automobile was owned by Robert Diehm of Stephenson who, when contacted, was unaware his car was missing.

Forster was arrested at 2:15 a.m. on U.S. 2 in Mueller Township.

City police lodged William "Bing" Gundersen, 171 River St., after Gundersen called police and said he had pitched a stone through a window at the Lynn Auto Parts office, River St., at 5:10 a.m. Saturday.

Gundersen was charged with disorderly and was scheduled for arraignment in District Court today.

James Monroe, a former president, died on July 4, 1831. The first recorded celebration of the Declaration of Independence was not on July 4, but on July 8, 1776, the Monday following its adoption. On that day Philadelphians attended a mass meeting in the State House Yard—now Independence Square—to hear the document read aloud.

Non-Medicare Related Items Aged Problem

Retired persons over age 55 said their biggest problem was budgeting for health items — dental care, eye glasses, hearing aids, etc. — not covered by Medicare, according to testimony at Friday's "Commission on Aging" hearing.

The accent was on needs not being met for those on fixed incomes (social security and/or private pensions) during a period of constantly increasing living expenses.

Several proposals were made to lessen the economic strain including a suggestion that the State of Michigan offer free hunting and fishing licenses to retirees, as some other states do.

John W. Moffat, chairman of the local panel which heard testimony during the two-hour hearing at Augustana Hall, said his committee was very pleased at the turn-out and the validity of the testimony.

Results of the local hearing will be forwarded to Lansing for inclusion in a state conference report next May and then on to Washington, D.C. where a national conference will take place in November of 1971 to deal with problems of the aging. Hopefully, Moffat added, some of the problems will be dealt with during the 1972 session of Congress.

Also serving on the panel were Msgr. F. M. Scheringer and Rev. Ingmar Levin, Manistique Ministerial Association; Larry Sell, M.D., county medical association; Mr. and Mrs. Earl LeBrasseur; Mrs. E. J. Doyle, Social Welfare Department; Mrs. Helen Merwin, Harbor View Towers resident; Mrs. Joseph Carefelle, president, Senior Citizens Club; Edwin E. Wuehle, superintendent of schools.

Cheese pizza, buttered green beans, fruit and beverage is the hot lunch menu for Tuesday in the Manistique Area Schools.

Fran DeCelle, 134 New Delta Ave., is a surgical patient in St. Luke's Hospital, Marquette, Room 236.

Carpenters Local No. 1832 is picketing the Timberline Co., project on River St., in Manistique in protest of allegedly substandard wages and fringe benefits paid by the company, said Neil F. Kositzky, Escanaba, union business agent. He said the only purpose of the picketing is to make the public aware of the company's employees "work under substandard conditions."

URBAN RENEWAL PRESENTATION

OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

There will be a colored-slide film presentation at the High School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, September 30.

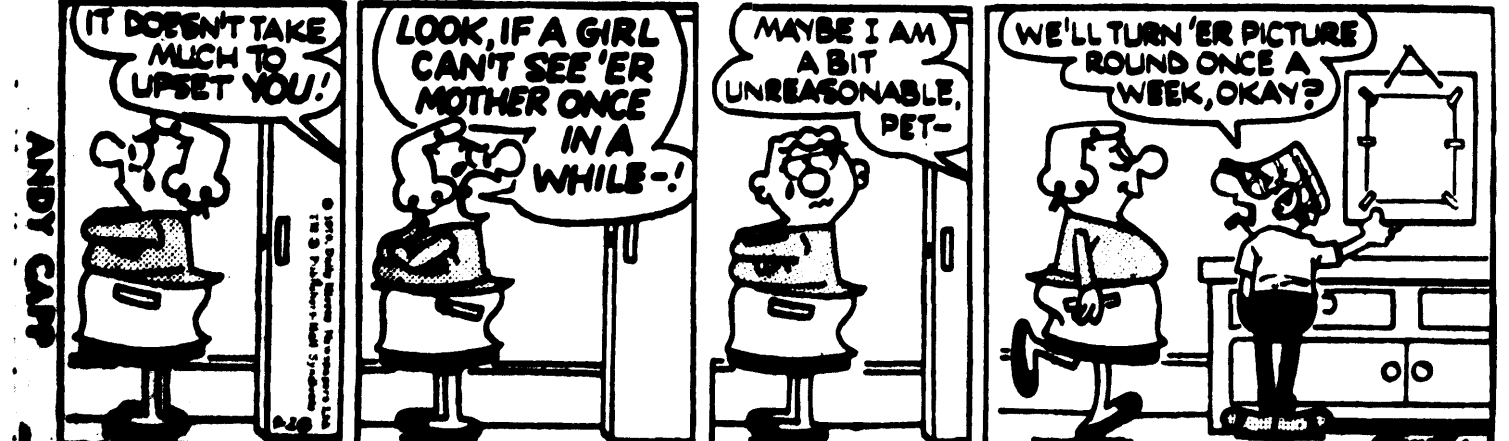

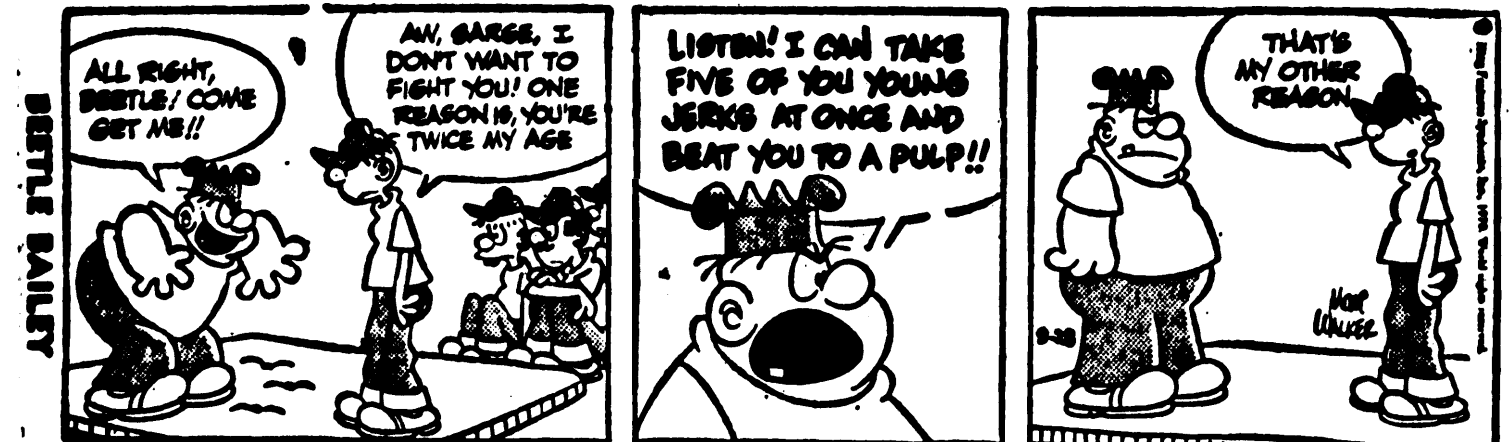

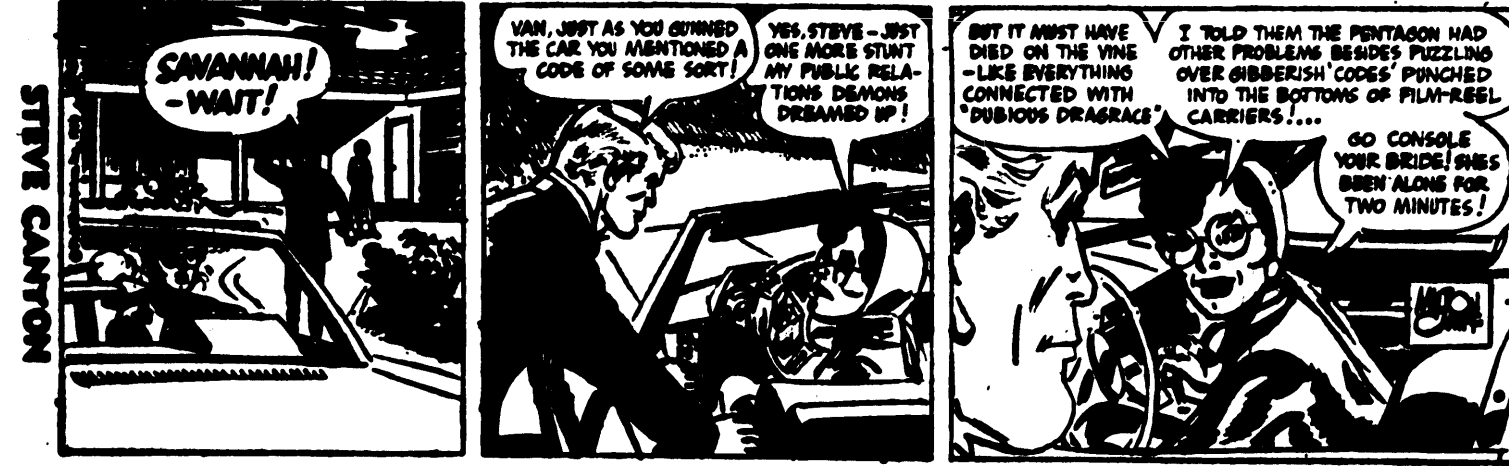

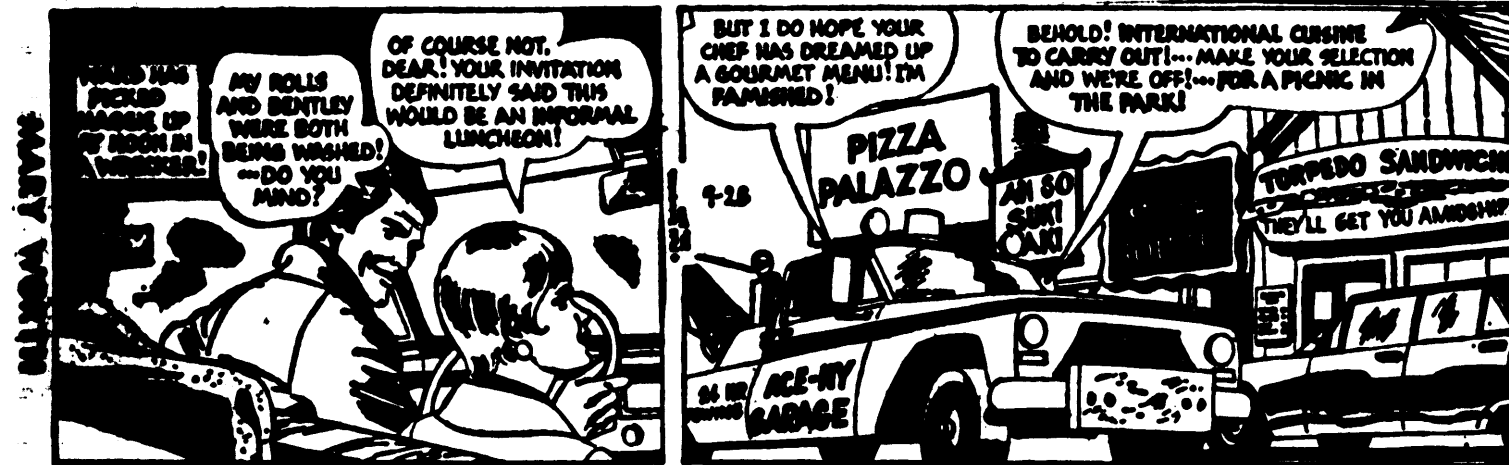

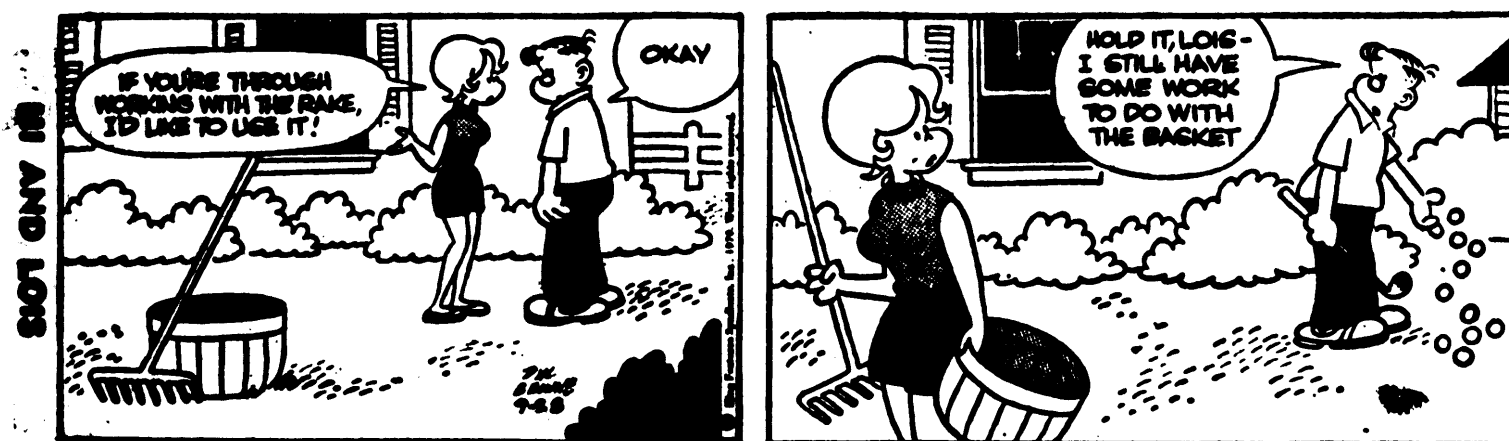

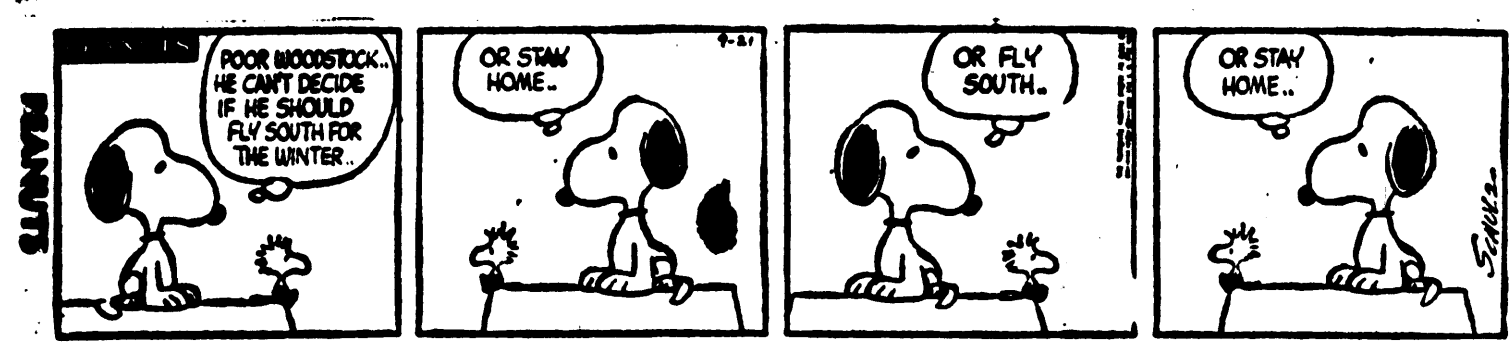

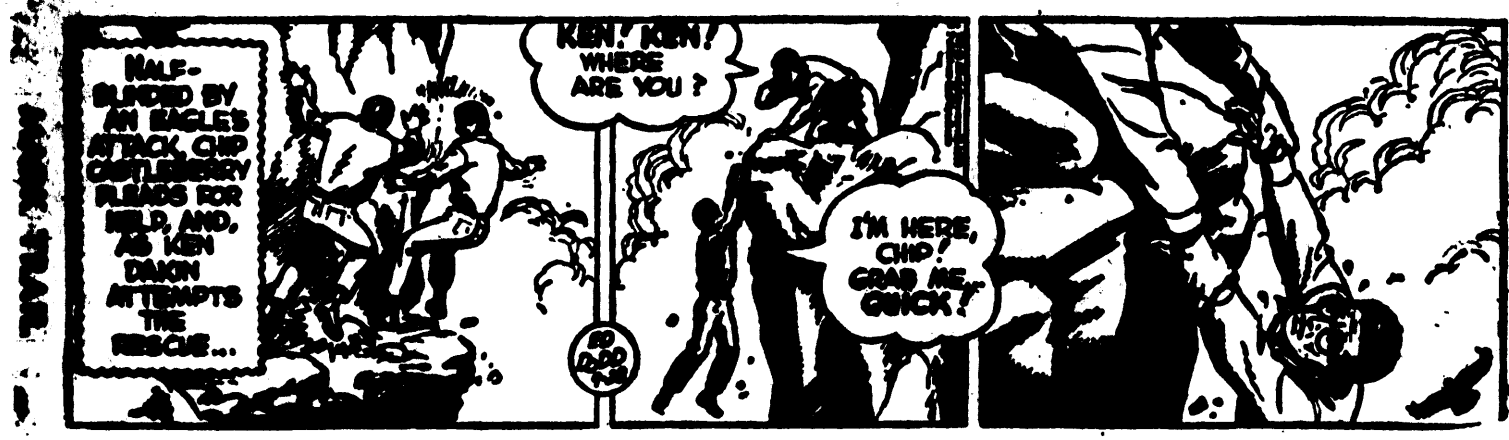

Mr. Lockwood Martling Jr., Supervisory Architect with the Department of Housing and Urban Development in Chicago, will give the presentation along with a commentary explaining the need for good rehabilitation practices.

Mr. Martling is a registered architect and maintained his own office for the practice of specializing in remodeling and rehabilitation prior to going into government service. He has had many publications of his architectural work in national magazines and is an expert photographer.

We have requested Mr. Martling to give us a "custom tailored" slide presentation, slanted toward upgrading downtown areas, using slides of specific problems of the city as a basis. He will match these with architectural solutions from other cities to demonstrate possible approaches to rehabilitating structures that will be most practical and attractive.

He will stress the restoration of structures with architectural significance and the addition of features to buildings lacking in good design. He will show how much can be accomplished by the removal of clutter, such as projecting signs, utility wires, incompatible canopies and awnings and various store front treatments.

This presentation by Mr. Martling will be very informative. You will be shown actual examples of what can be done to restore vitality to the business district by giving it a very attractive appearance and still retain our Manistique atmosphere.

Pontiac Area Book Assailed; Ban Suggested

PONTIAC (AP) — A State Board of Education member has labeled a history book on Oakland County an "assault on generations of minority groups" and asked that it be banned in public schools.

The "Oakland County Book of History, 1830-1970" "appears to violate the minimum recommendations for treatment of minorities in social studies material," said board member Charles E. Morton of Detroit in his resolution to ban the book.

Fish Research
Plan Changed,
Hickel Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel has announced the transfer of research activities concerning fish and environment in the Great Lakes from his department's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries to its Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

The change, effective Oct. 1, will keep the Great Lakes research in the Interior Department when the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries is transferred to the proposed new National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Agency (NOAA).

NOAA comes into being Oct. 3 unless Congress vetoes the President's reorganization plan. Department spokesmen said, however, that the transfer of Great Lakes research was under consideration for more than a year.

The department announced said it was apparent last spring that the Great Lakes states were placing increasing emphasis on recreational use of their lake resources—the distinction between sport fishing and commercial fishing.

Congress appropriated $1.2 million for the Great Lakes fishery program in fiscal 1971 and the remaining funds will be transferred to Sport Fisheries along with the research program.

The Bureau of Sport Fisheries is to lose two relatively small activities to NOAA—its marine fisheries laboratories and its advisory role in pesticide labeling.

The spokesman said that with the acquisition of Great Lakes research the bureau would probably end up with just about the same manpower and budget as it has now, or a little bit more.

Scientists Say
Nuclear Power
Water Is Safe

CHICAGO (AP) — Six scientists, testifying in behalf of Commonwealth Edison Co., have said that a proposed federal limit on the temperature of water discharged into Lake Michigan is unnecessary.

The scientists, including Dr. Donald W. Pritchard, an oceanographer with Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., differed with a Department of Interior report on the effects of heated water discharges on Lake Michigan ecology.

The testimony was given Saturday before the Illinois Pollution Control Board, which is considering a thermal pollution standard for the state.

Pritchard said a Department of Interior recommendation to ban the discharge of water more than one degree warmer than the natural Lake temperature was beyond that "necessary for the protection of marine life and a waster of a natural resource."

He said fish and other water organisms will survive exposure to water as warm as 20 degrees above the normal water temperature at the discharge point, and that the heated water would "have no measurable effect on the overall lake temperature."

Commonwealth Edison plans to utilize the lake to cool discharges from nuclear power plants. The state's current pollution standard permits the discharge of water up to five degrees warmer than natural water temperature.

If the stricter standards were adopted, the company would be forced to make design changes in a 2.2 million kilowatt nuclear generating station under construction at Zion, just below the Wisconsin border.

William J. Scott, state attorney general, told the board that power companies should build closed cooling systems that do not empty into the lake to prevent thermal pollution.

The board is not expected to set a new heat standard until November. Two more public hearings are scheduled for Nov. 5 and 6.

Fish Research Plan Changed, Hickel Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel has announced the transfer of research activities concerning fish and environment in the Great Lakes from his department's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries to the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

The change, effective Oct. 1, will keep the Great Lakes research in the Interior Department when the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries is transferred to the proposed new National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA).

NOAA comes into being Oct. 3 under Congress' reorganization plan. Department spokesmen said, however, that the transfer of Great Lakes research was under consideration for more than a year.

The department announcement said it was apparent last spring that the Great Lakes states were placing increasing emphasis on recreational use of their lake resources—the distinction between sport fishing and commercial fishing.

Congress appropriated $1.3 million for the Great Lakes fishery program in fiscal 1971 and the remaining funds will be transferred to Sport Fisheries along with the research program.

The Bureau of Sport Fisheries is to take two relatively small activities to NOAA—its marine fisheries laboratory and its advisory role in pesticide labeling.

The spokesmen said that with the acquisition of Great Lakes research the bureau would probably end up with just about the same manpower and budget as it has now, or a little bit more.

Scientists Say Nuclear Power Water Is Safe

CHICAGO (AP) — Six scientists, testifying in behalf of Commonwealth Edison Co., have said that a proposed federal limit on the temperature of water discharged into Lake Michigan is unnecessary.

The scientists, including Dr. Donald W. Pritchard, an oceanographer with Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, 244, differed with a Department of Interior report on the effects of heated water discharges on Lake Michigan ecology.

The testimony was given Saturday before the Illinois Pollution Control Board, which is considering a thermal pollution standard for the state.

Pritchard said a Department of Interior recommendation to ban the discharge of water more than one degree warmer than the natural lake temperature was beyond that "necessary for the protection of marine life and a water of a natural resource."

He said fish and other water organisms will survive exposure to water as warm as 80 degrees above the normal water temperature at the discharge point, and that the heated water would "have no measurable effect on the overall lake temperature."

Commonwealth Edison plans to utilize the lake to cool discharges from nuclear power plants. The state's current pollution standard permits the discharge of water up to five degrees warmer than natural water temperature.

If the stricter standards were adopted, the company would be forced to make design changes in a $3 million kilowatt nuclear generating station under construction at Zion, just below the Wisconsin border.

A STEAM POWERED AUTO is the goal as industrialist-inventor William Lear explains his Lear vapor generator, which he holds in Los Angeles. He said such an engine underwent a 100-hour endurance test with "tremendously successful results." He said tests show the system emits about 40 per cent less carbon monoxide and 45 per cent less oxides of nitrogen than the 1975 air pollutant control requirements.

Faster Coho Maturity Aim Of Fish Expert

By BOB VOGES

LANSING (AP)—If the Coho salmon maturity rate can be speeded up by a year, this means one third less exposure to the DDT in the Great Lakes. A unique experiment along this line is being carried on by Dr. Peter Tack, Michigan State University fisheries and wildlife expert.

The planting and harvesting of Coho and other species in the Great Lakes can correctly be called fish farming.

It now is recognized the waters areas of the world are one of the last unexplored and unexploited frontiers for new farming methods.

Coho normally have a three-year life cycle. But there are a high percentage of the jack—male—salmon that mature at the age of two.

A very few fish producing an amazing number of eggs.

For instance, with three females and six two-year old salmon, Tack was able to raise some 14,000 fingerlings. Some 5,000 already have been planted in the Great Lakes.

Tack's hope is that the younger two-year old Coho will mate with three-year old females.

"We may be able to genetically control early maturity," Tack said.

If the young jacks are able to fertilize the eggs of the older females, the experiment will be a success.

"We hope to have this genetic control transmitted to the females so they also mature at the age of two," he explained.

One of Tack's fears is that in the freedom of their spawning grounds, the older salmon may take over and drive away the two-year olds.

Among fish, as among animals, the older and stronger are better able to dominate the females.

The fish were released at Thompson Creek, near Manistique in the Upper Peninsula.

The tip on whether the experiment is working will be the numbers of two-year old salmon in the creek. If the younger salmon show a larger count it means the fish will mature and mate at the earlier age.

The main object, of course, is to cut down the DDT content in the fish—cause of such an uproar recently.

Tack says he isn't convinced that salmon with a DDT content are that dangerous.

"As far as I can see, there is nothing in literature on the precise safe level of DDT for fish, man or animal," Tack said.

Tack says he eats Great Lakes salmon without any worries.

"I eat all the salmon I catch because I don't catch many," he said modestly.

Liberated Women Hard To Recognize

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that woman has been liberated and declared equal to man, only one problem remains—how do you tell her from him?

Short of sworn testimony by a physician after a medical checkup, it is difficult to be absolutely certain of anyone's sex nowadays. But there are certain ways by which one can make a fairly well-informed guess.

Such as:
Does it stamp its foot when it gets angry? It's a woman. Does it go around kicking wastebaskets when it loses its temper. It's a man.

Can it zipper up all its zippers by itself? That's a he. Must it ask for help, particularly when the zipper is in back? That's a she.

Does it seem to think that money grows on trees? That's a wife. Does it spend a great part of its married life insisting that money doesn't grow on trees? That's a husband.

Can it quaff a dry Martini without batting an eye? Salute a real he man. Can't it ever sip a Martini without simpering, "My, it's so strong." Just another average woman.

Did you say it loves to dine by candlelight and read love poetry by firelight? That's the girl. How about the one that wants to turn out all the lights and get back to the sofa? That's her boyfriend.

Does it reach for the restaurant check ostentatiously and say aloud, "No, George, it is only fair that I treat you this time—I'd lose my pride if I didn't." That is one of the new liberated females. Does it just silently reach over and take the check out of her unprotecting hands and pay it? That's just another liberated male.

When it feels blue, does it like to sit down and cry on the nearest shoulder? Just another Jane. Does it prefer to head for the nearest bar and tell its troubles, standing up, to a bartender? Just another Joe.

Yes, by hook or by crook, we can usually tell the sexes apart. The problem of keeping them apart we'll leave for another day.

FORD RIVER TOWNSHIP REGISTRATION NOTICE

THIRD FLOOR—WHITE GOODS.

All that's new for 1971— from Oldsmobile!

Toronado. The Unmistakable One takes on grand new proportions. It is a full five inches longer, and every inch adds to its elegance. Even its trunk is more spacious this year.

The new interiors are roomier and far more sumptuous. The front floor is flat from door to door, with no hump to get in the way.

Add a responsive Olds Rocket 455 V-8, power steering, power front disc brakes, Turbo Hydra-matic—all standard on the front drive Toronado.

88's remarkable new "G-Ride" System.

The "G-Ride" System. An Olds exclusive—a combination of advances in chassis, suspension, steering and all-new Super-shocks. You ride smoother, corner better, are less affected by stiff crosswinds. It's featured in every 1971 Olds Delta 88.

Pollution fighters. Every Olds engine is designed to cut emissions, run efficiently on low-lead, low-lead or regular fuel.

Double comfort. New Flo-Thru Ventilation features both upper and lower outlets for greater control, better air circulation.

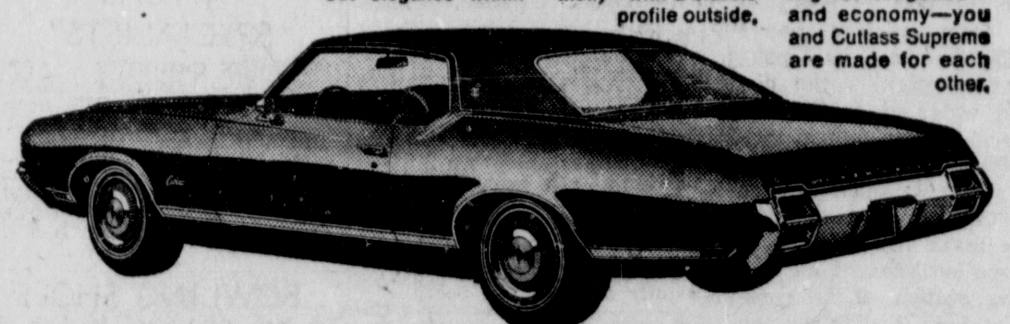

Solid security. Side-guard beams are welded into the doors for protection. One of many Olds safety features for 1971.

Cutlass Supreme. Oldsmobile's "little limousine" places all-out elegance within the reach of nearly every new car buyer! And does it so beautifully—with a classic profile outside, deep comfort and luxurious appointments inside. If you're longing for elegance—and economy—you and Cutlass Supreme are made for each other.

THIRD FLOOR—WHITE GOODS.

All that's new for 1971-
from Oldsmobile!

Toronado. The Unmistakable One takes on grand new proportions. It is a full two inches longer, and every inch adds to its elegance. Even its trunk is more spacious this year.

The new interiors are roomier and far more sumptuous. The front floor is flat from door to door, with no hump to get in the way.

Toronado's unique front drive and the totally new ride system deliver greater smoothness, improved traction and sure handling.

Add a responsive Olds Rocket 455 V-8, power steering, power front disc brakes, Turbo Hydramatic—all standard on the front drive Toronado.

Delta 88. Warmest welcome ever to the big-car world. Power steering is standard. So are power front

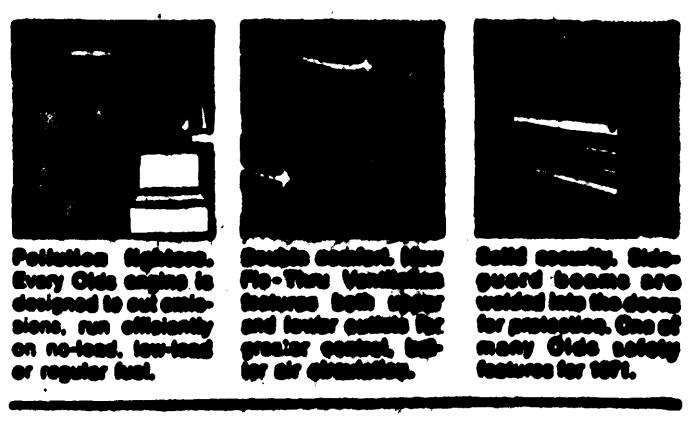

The "G-Ride" System. An Olds exclusive—a combination of advances in chassis, suspension, steering and all-new Super-sheeps. Your ride smoother, corner better, are less affected by still surroundings. It's featured in every 1971 Olds Delta 88.

Pollution fighters. Every Olds engine is designed to cut emissions, run efficiently on no-lead, low-lead or regular fuel.

Cutless Supreme. Oldsmobile's "little timepiece" places all-out elegance within the reach of every new car buyer. And does it so beautifully—a classic profile outside, deep comfort and luxurious appointments inside. If you're looking for elegance—and economy—you and Cutless Supreme are made for each other.

Double clutch. New Olds-Flow Ventilation features both upper and lower outlets for greater control, better air circulation.

Olds security. Side-guard beams are welded into the body for protection. One of many Olds safety features for 1971.
